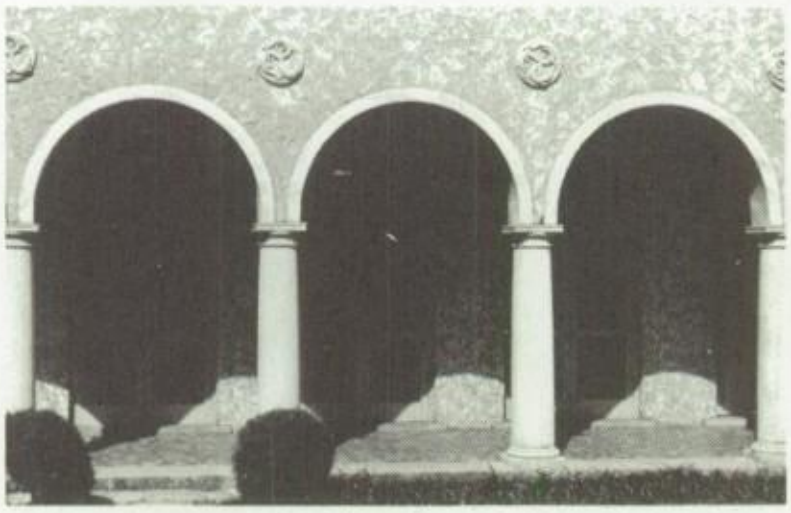
TURRIS
1966

the bolles school, jacksonville, florida



ARCHES are basic in the design of our culture. Here at Bolles, where Spanish Colonial architecture is predominant, this is especially true. The idea of the arch is prevalent not only in Bolles' physical design but also in the overall composition of the school.

A school is more than buildings. It is more than a faculty—it is an arch of both mind and body.

Life at Bolles is an arch of good times and bad, hard work and fun. Students and classes form the stones of the archways. The ideas of the faculty and the spirit of the school itself form the mortar with which these stones are held together.

The various aspects of the Bolles' life make a never ending line of archways. Class follows class in this line. This book is dedicated to one such class—

DEDICATION

The 1966 TURRIS is dedicated to KNOWLEDGE AND GROWTH—the knowledge and growth of the future, for at Bolles they are synonymous. As fields of learning grow ever more diversified and exacting, so also must our facilities adapt to meet the ever intensifying needs of students and faculty. As the pressure and demands for better prepared students increase, Bolles must not and will not remain static. It must surge ahead with long-reaching improvements. This progress is not just a dream, but is even now starting within and around us. These improvements are not designed to tear away the traditions and memories which already exist, but to enhance them and make them even more keen and more meaningful for the students of the future. Together knowledge and growth will march on to keep Bolles in its position as a successful and prestigious home for learning.

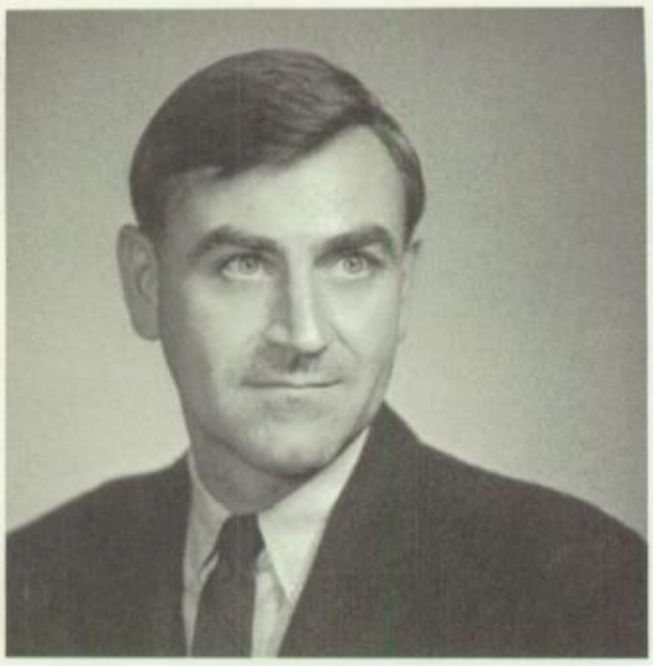
CURRICULARS

English



Mr. Robert P. Hubbard
Head of Department

Mr. Joseph T. Dyess

Mr. Rufus R. McClure

The Bolles School English Department is one of the strong points of the curriculum. Realizing the need for a strong background in English, Mr. Robert P. Hubbard has outlined an excellent course of study. The electives of the department, Creative Writing and History of the Drama, are only offered to juniors and seniors who show superior proficiency in the required English I-IV. Plays and educational movies are also presented to fully provide a strong background in English.

Mathematics

The Math Department under the direction of Mr. Vaino Nelimark is considered to be one of the best in Florida. Students start their math career with Algebra I taught by Mr. Buddy Ward. Students are then made familiar with the world of Euclid by Mr. Pritchett and to complete their basic math instruction, they are taught Algebra II by Dr. Meighen. In addition to these basic Math courses students have the option of taking advanced courses in Algebra, Analytic Geometry, Probability and Statistics, Math V, Trigonometry and Solid Geometry.

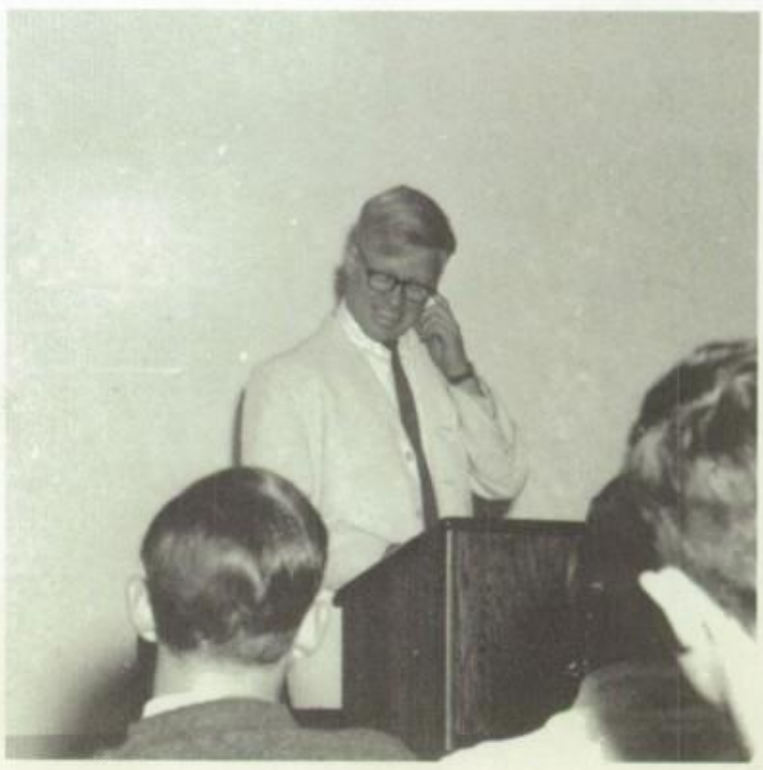
Speech

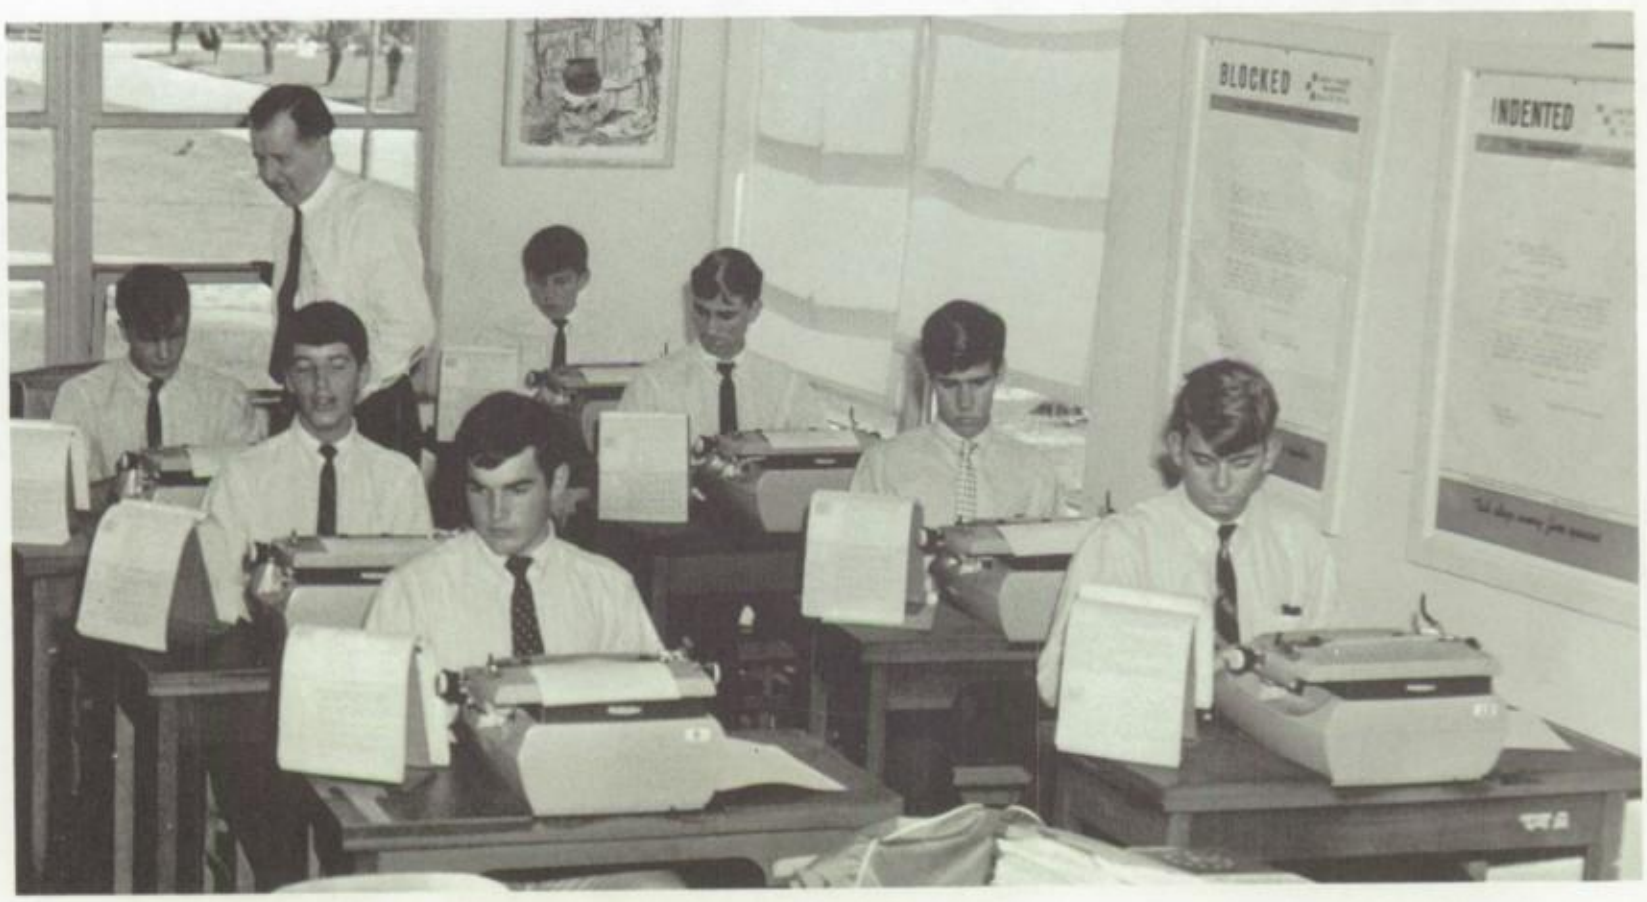
Speech class, under the leadership of Mr. Harry M. deMontmollin, strives to give its students experience in proper speaking techniques. Speech is a one semester course during which students are given topics ranging from humor to serious convincing presentations.



Business Education

The Business Education Department directed by Mr. Edgar A. Dorey, a man of vast experience in the business world, offers courses in typing and economics. The usual textbooks are supplemented by many fascinating lectures based on true-to-life experiences through which students learn the basics of business. Typing has been improved by the addition of "type-along" recordings to which students establish rhythm—an experience all students should have.

Mr. Edgar A. Dorey
Head of Department



Reading

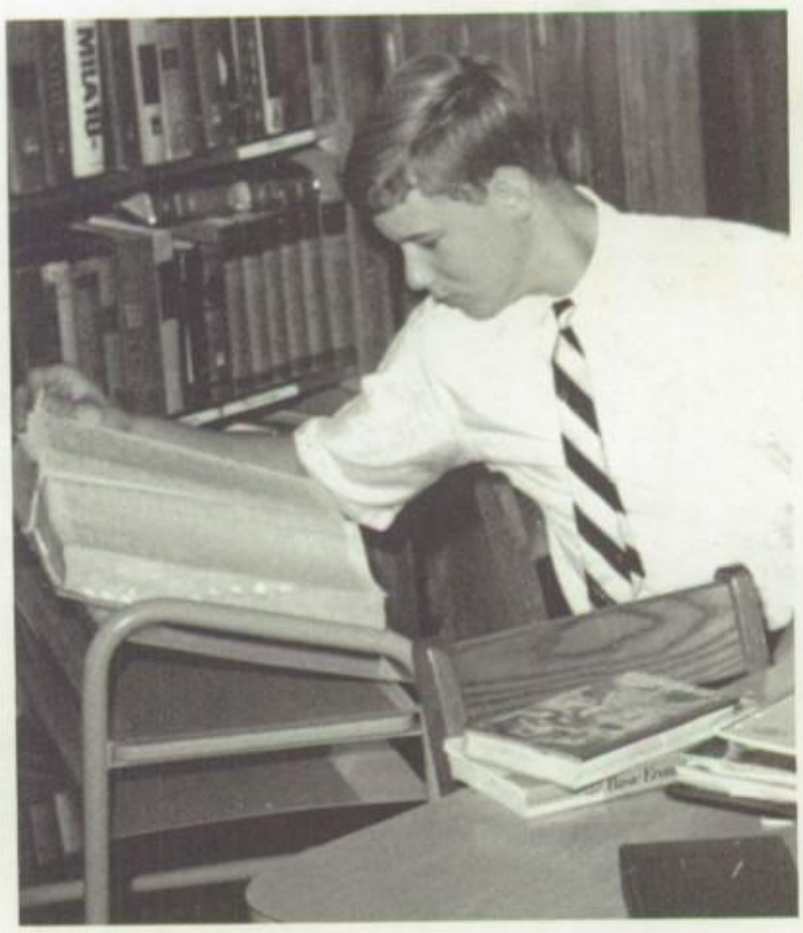
Bolles is fortunate to have one of the best Developmental Reading Departments in the South. Mrs. Patricia Eyster, reading instructor, with the use of modern educational aids, helps the student develop both his reading speed and comprehension rate. This year the program is being expanded to give more students an opportunity to improve their reading.

Mrs. Patricia Eyster

Library

Mrs. Dorothy Smith
Librarian

One of the most necessary facilities of a school is its library. Realizing this, Bolles has initiated a building program which will provide for the construction of a new library. To keep the present facilities up to par, new books are constantly added and, the present library has been fully air-conditioned. Mrs. Dorothy Smith has done a truly outstanding job as librarian.



Mr. Alberto Perez
Head of Language Department

Language

The Language Department is a place of constant change and improvement. Mr. Perez, the department head, has assembled one of the finest departmental staffs to be found anywhere.

Mr. Mesquida and Mr. Lopez both teach Spanish. With them from their native Cuba is a man of long teaching experience—Capt. Garces. They form a well-rounded, native-speaking Spanish Department.

Mr. Perez handles the French chores himself. In addition to French and English, Mr. Perez also speaks Spanish and Latin fluently.

Though Mr. Bachleda is not a native Roman, many of his students feel that he could teach the Caesars some Latin grammar.

A later addition to the Department is Mr. James Humphreys, who teaches the basics of Latin to the Junior School students.

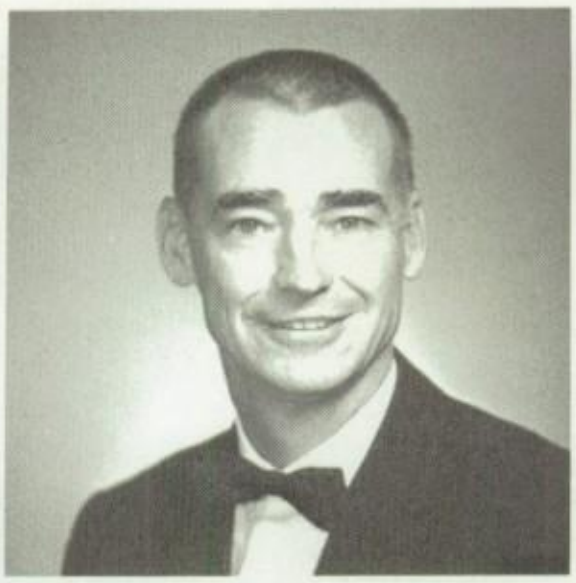
Science



Mr. Frederick Boucher

Mr. Ellis Lanquist

Mr. Robert W. Love

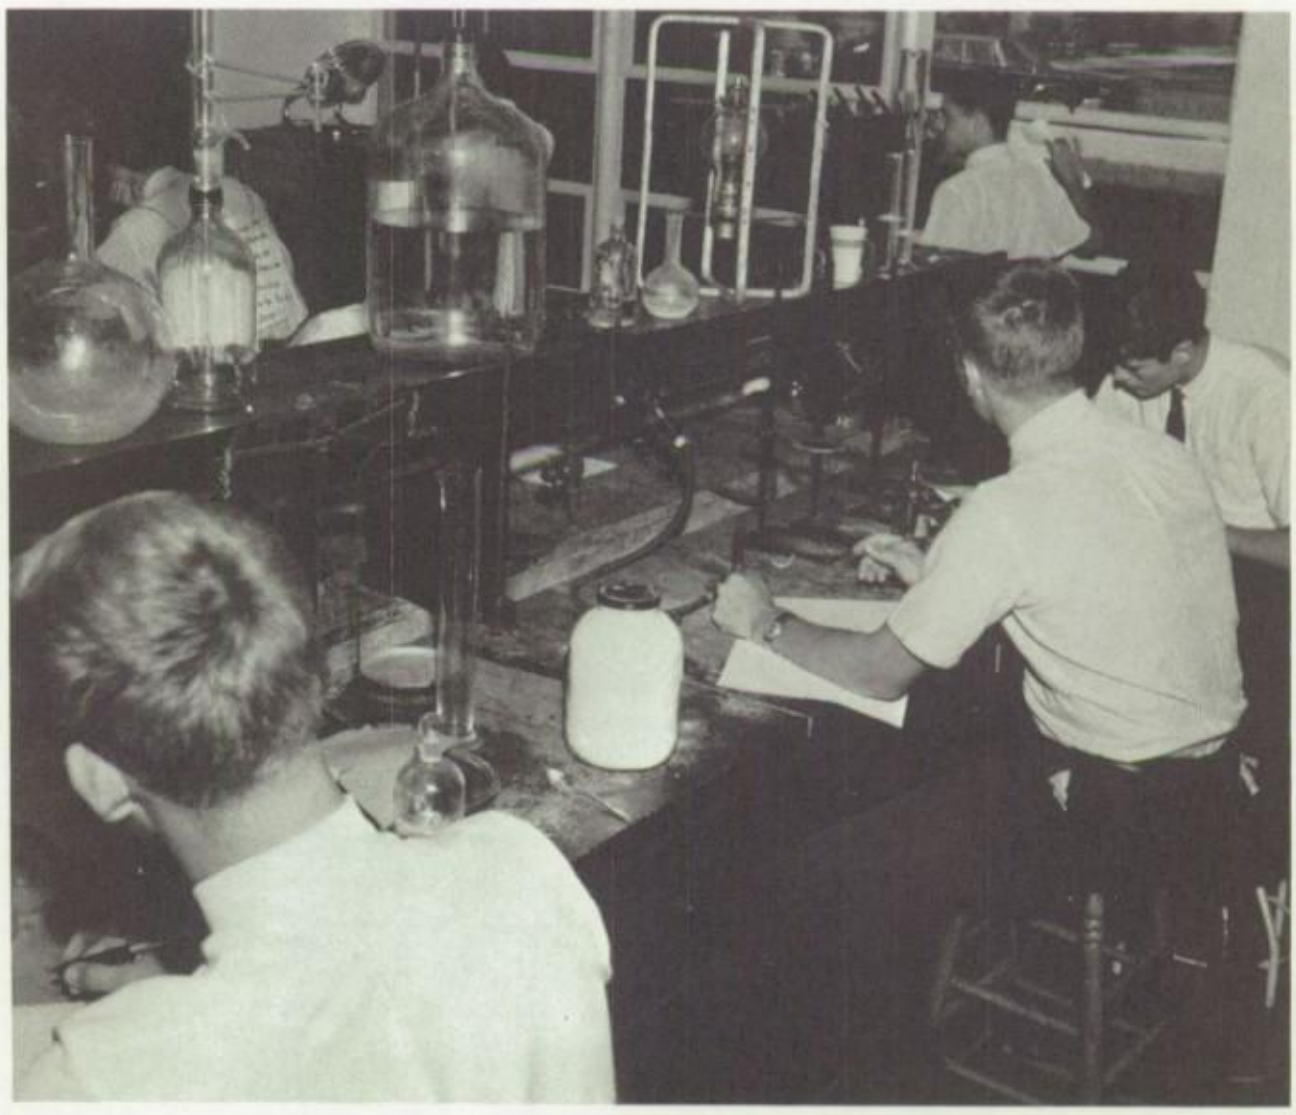
Mr. Allen Tully

This year Bolles is fortunate to have a truly outstanding science department. This department includes a very competent staff of nine excellent instructors: Mr. Clifton Chappell is in charge of Physics, Mr. Robert Funari teaches both Biology and General Science. The Head of the Science Department, Captain Robert Love, teaches general chemistry as well as a college level advanced placement course in that subject. Major Lanquist holds two extremely demanding positions as Biology instructor and Head of the Junior School. Mr. Fred Boucher instructs the ninth grade in general science, and Mr. Allen Tully teaches the Junior School students the basics of science.



Mr. Clifton Chappell

Mr. Robert Funari

History

Mr. Harry deMontmollin

The History Department acquaints the Bolles student with the histories of both America and Europe. The history requirements have been changed to meet the increasing demands of today's colleges. The study of history begins in the Seventh Grade with geography and world social studies. It continues with Eighth Grade American History, Western European History in the Ninth or Tenth Grade, and American History in the Eleventh Grade. Twentieth Century History is available as an elective in the Senior Year.

Music

Over the normal sounds of the everyday sixth period classes can often be heard the lilting sounds of the Bolles Music class.

The Music Department, led by Mr. Robert Sandlin, introduces the student to the cultural side of academics. The curriculum this year has been expanded to include a course in the history of music in addition to the traditional Glee Club.

Among the Glee Club's activities have been a performance before a full house at the Riverside Woman's Club and singing at the services of the South Jacksonville Presbyterian Church, where Mr. Sandlin serves as Director of Music.

Mr. Robert Sandlin

Art

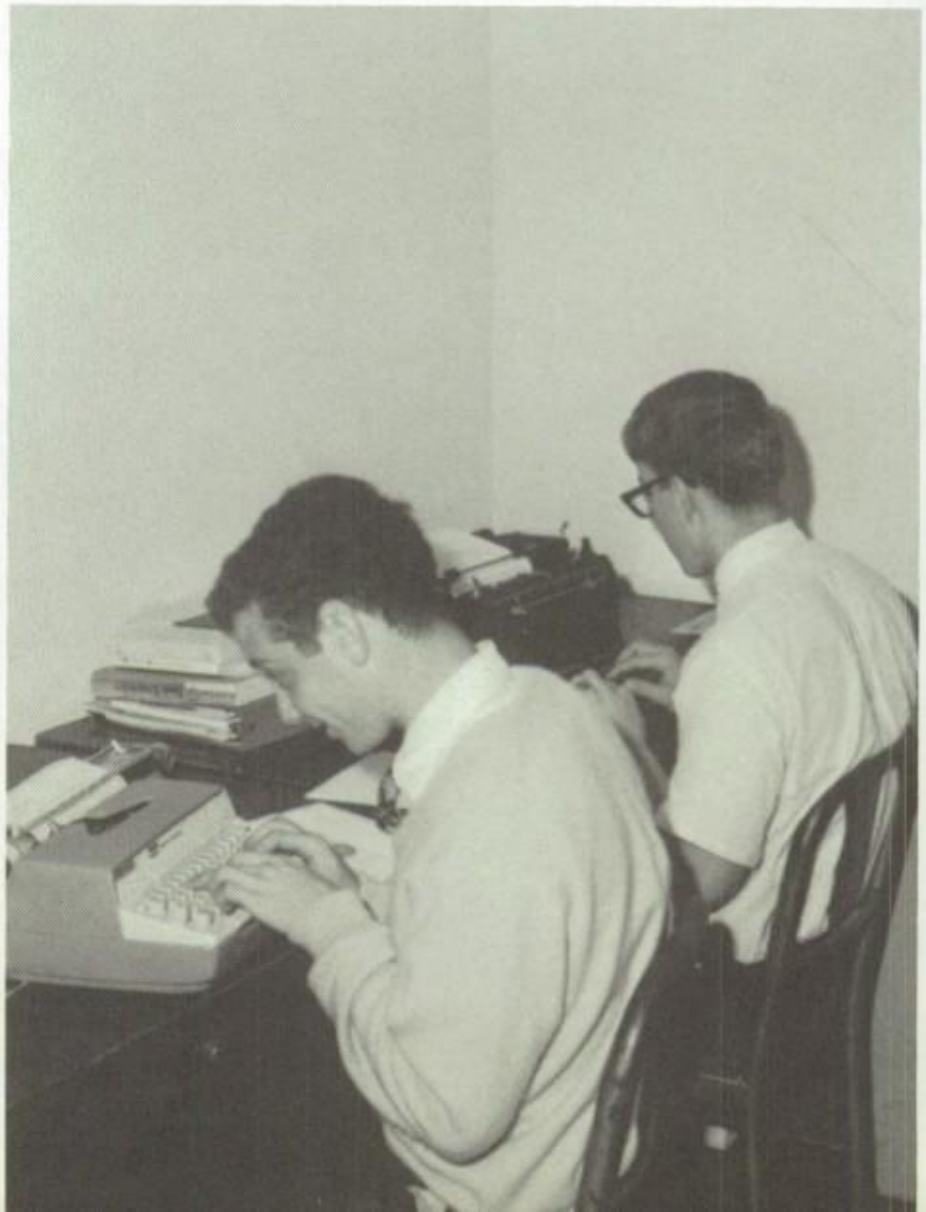
The Bolles art renaissance is led this year by Mrs. Betty Huddleston. The art class, which meets during sixth period, has been moved this year to the evacuated pool hall. Drawings and paintings by the students have, from time to time throughout the year, been displayed in the archways surrounding Junior Patio for the enjoyment of the other students. The course is offered as an elective to students in both the Upper and Lower Schools as a half credit course.

Mrs. Betty Huddleston

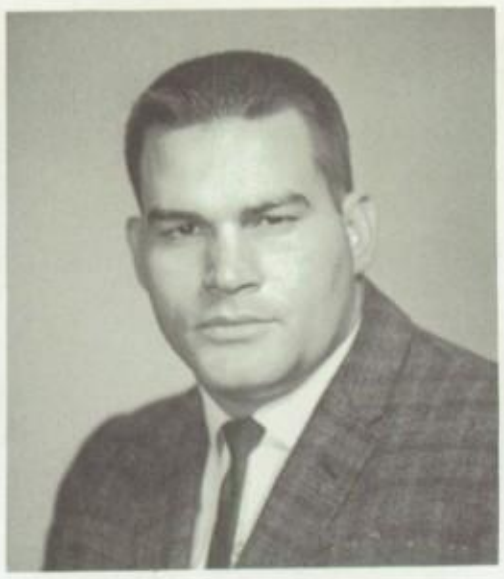
Journalism

The Journalism class was reorganized last year by Mr. Harry deMontmollin. Students learn the basics of journalism by putting the fundamentals learned in the classroom to work on school publications. The class is responsible for publishing the Bolles' Alumni Bugle, doing the production work on the Junior School's Eagle, reporting for the Bugle, and writing copy for the Turris. Members of the class are also responsible for maintaining the school's darkroom which does developing work for the Publications Department and individual students.

Journalism is a full year elective course which has proven itself to be a great asset to the school and students.

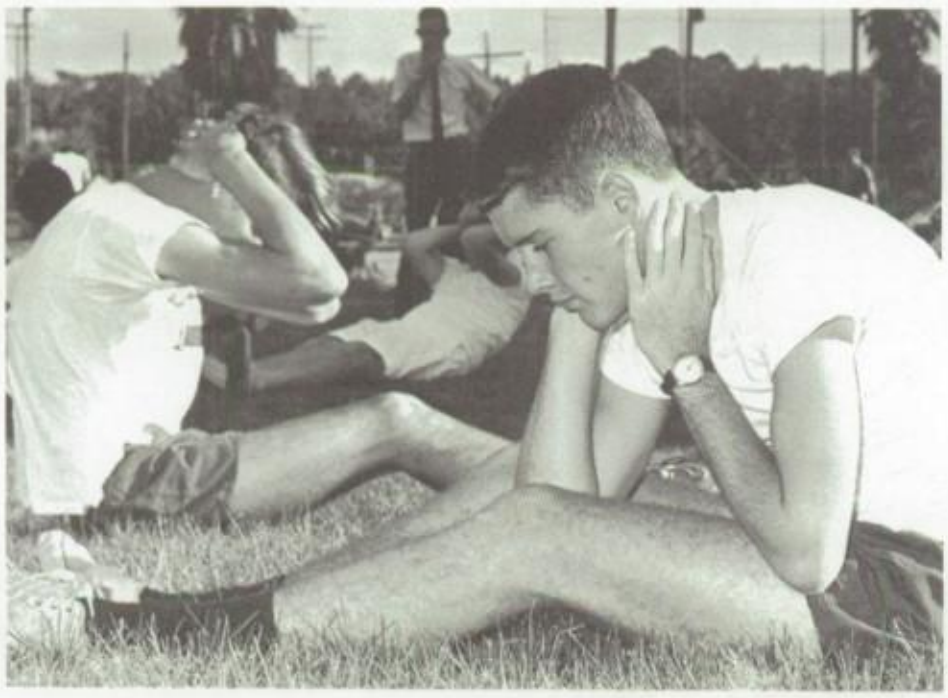


Physical Education



Max Bass

The Physical Education Department is designed to help build the student into a physically fit, as well as mentally fit, individual. Each day students are drilled in basic agility skills to build up their co-ordination. Under the leadership of Coach Max Bass, students are taught the basic skills in various sports. Games of basketball, football, soccer and golf are among the many varied activities.



Headmaster

In his second year as Headmaster of Bolles, Dr. Reed maintains his goals for increasing the prestige of Bolles. He has helped make the school into an institution which is pointing more and more towards the future. Plans for a new library, gymnasium, and auditorium will soon be transferred from blueprint to actual buildings which will aid the students and increase their interests and efforts in the academic as well as athletic areas. Dr. Reed's ideas will prove to bring Bolles from the level of normalcy to the higher level of excellency.

The Business Department

There are many groups of men and women at Bolles who get credit for much of the work done, but there is one group that is very seldom seen. Without them, however, the school could not function. The secretarial staff does all office work, bookkeeping, stenography, and typing for the school. In addition to their normally busy day, the secretaries take time out to do work for teachers and students.

Mrs. Henrietta Bradley

This year our cheerful, smiling secretarial staff has aided everyone in their hard working efforts to do such jobs as bookkeeping, stenography and accounting.

No matter how difficult their work may be, they always find time to help a confused student or a teacher in need of a favor.

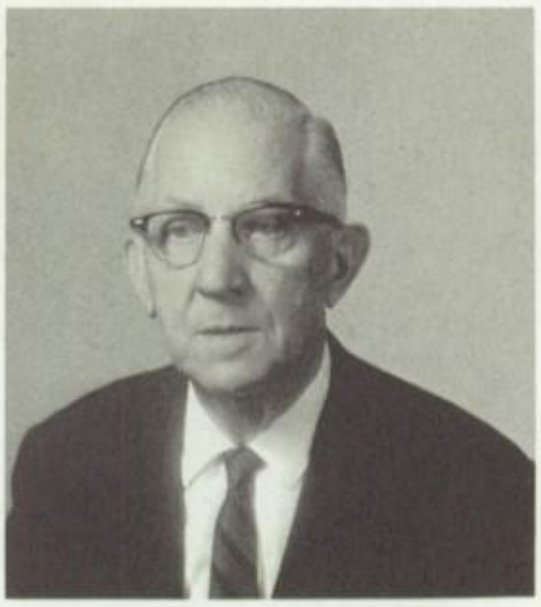
Mrs. Rosella Marchand
School Nurse

Many a healthy Bolles student owes his state of healthiness to the well-equipped Bolles Infirmary. During Infirmary hours, Mrs. Marchand is always anxious and happy to care for the needs of the students. A tip of the hat to our devoted nurse, Mrs. Marchand.

Mrs. Vera Gunter



J. R. Halstead

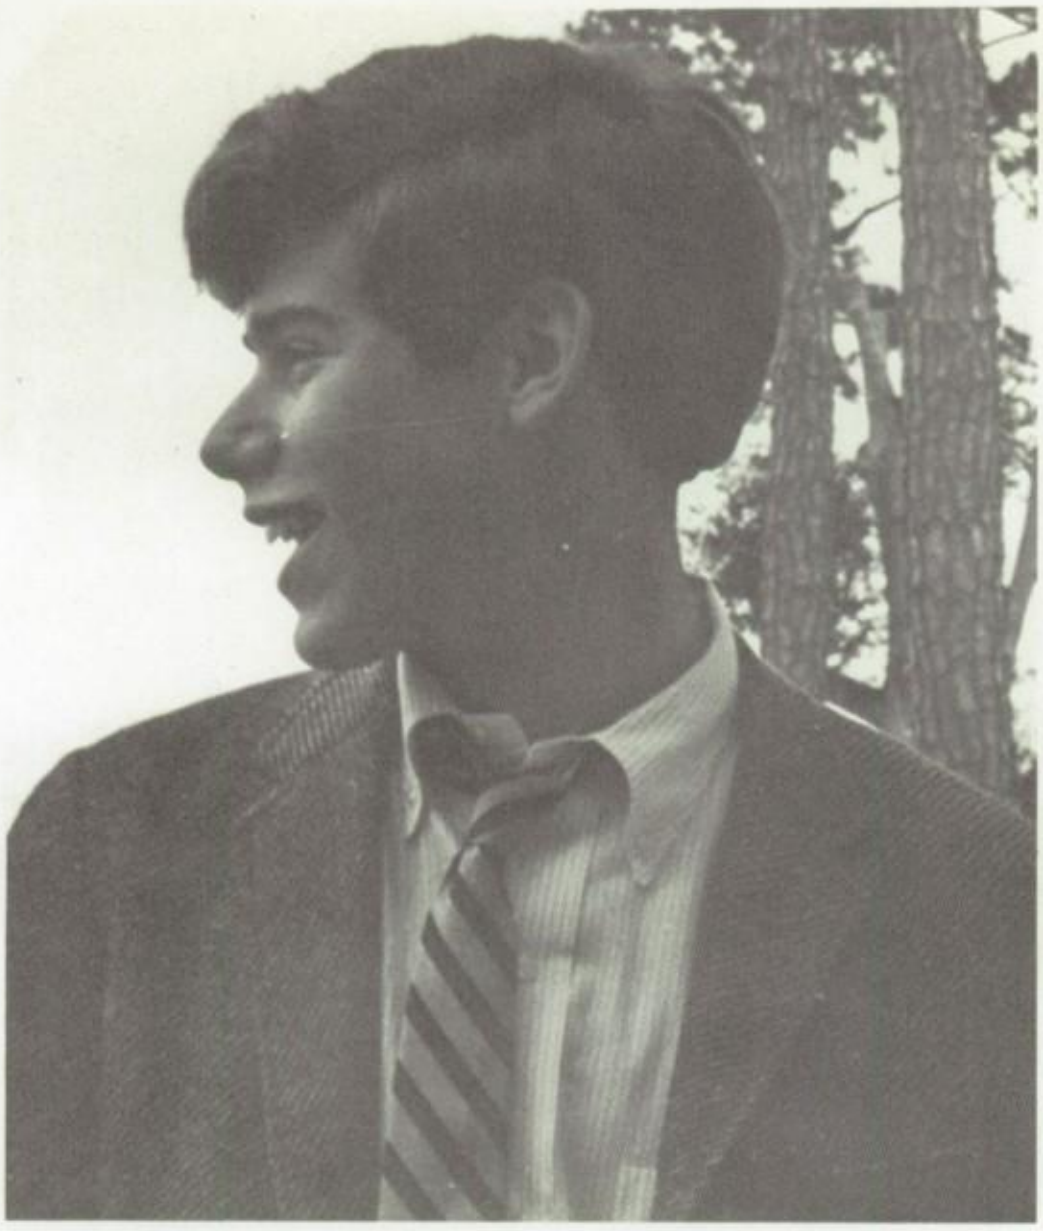
Mrs. Floyd Green

The Bolles canteen is the center of relaxation for the students during the school hours. Here the students may relieve some of their tensions in the casual atmosphere. In addition to refreshments, school supplies and toiletries are also sold. Adjacent to the canteen is the Bolles bookstore under the supervision of Mr. Halstead. Here textbooks, paperbacks, and an assortment of clothes are sold.

EXTRA-CURRICULARS

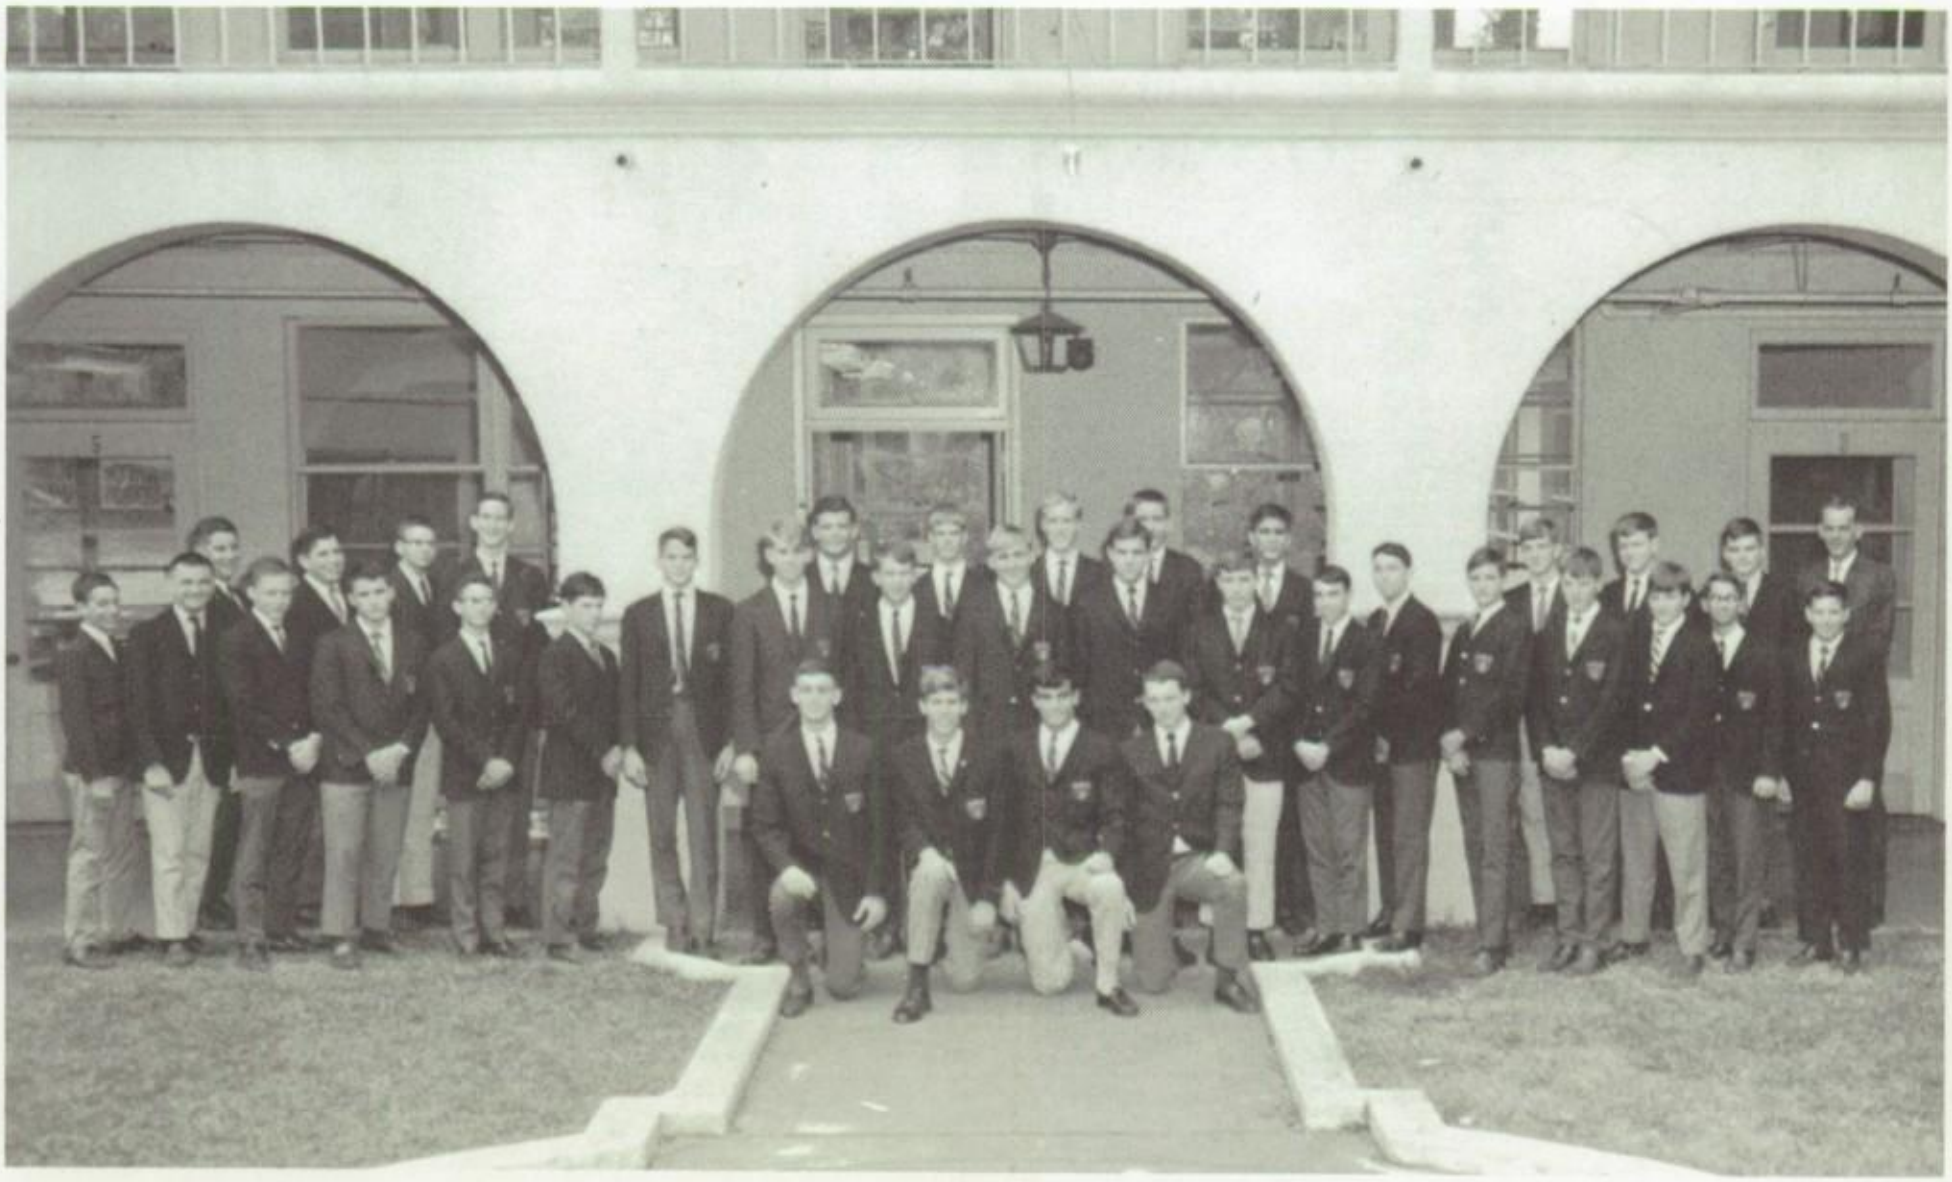
The Alpha Society

The Alpha Society is the Bolles Chapter of the National Honor Society. The aspirants have to earn an eighty-eight average to be considered for entrance, and once in, an average of eighty-five must be maintained. Also, the club requires that all members become identified with one worthwhile project for the community of the school.



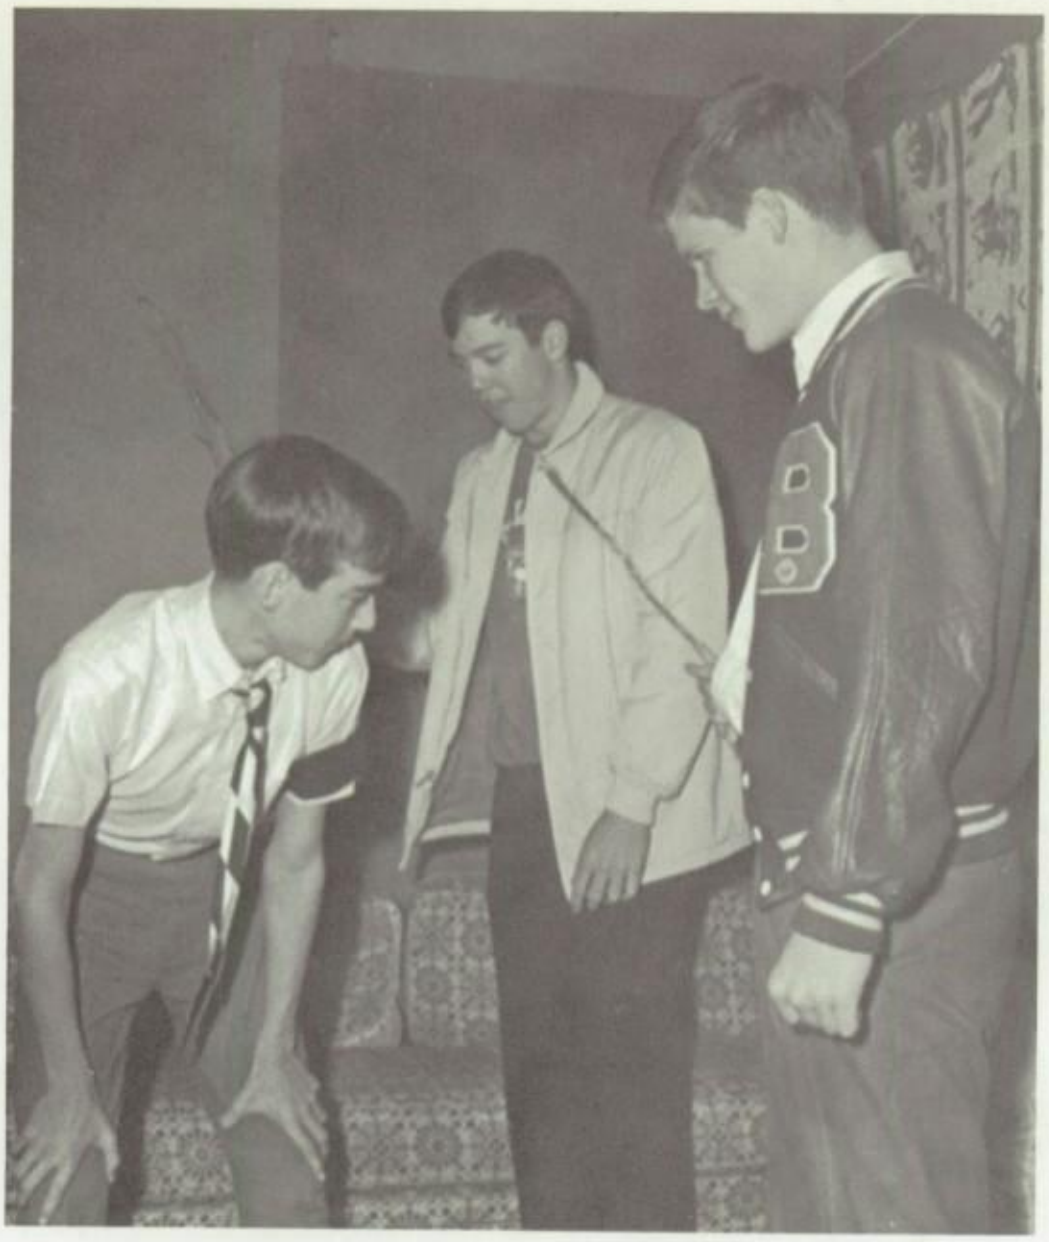
The Junior Classical League is composed of all Upper School students involved in Latin having an average of eighty-eight. Mr. Albert Bachleda sponsors this group which studies mythology, Roman history, and Roman culture. The League is identified on campus by holding various activities, such as raffles, and it is also active within the state of Florida, as every year it attends the statewide Latin Forum.

The Junior Classical League



The Investment Club

The Investment Club was a new innovation this year organized by students interested in learning about the Stock Exchange and making a "little" money. The first year of operation yielded dubious financial rewards, but the educational profits were priceless.



The "B" Club is one of the most active service clubs on campus. This year's club, led by its able sponsor, Mr. Garrison, as well as officers Art Broder, John Watson, Phil Heard, and Pat Cliet—raised money throughout the year for various athletic equipment. The "B" Club also operated its regular store at night which sold soft drinks.

The "B" Club

Mr. Joseph T. Dyess, Advisor

The Student Council

The legislative power granted to the students by the administration, the Student Council, comes into contact with nearly every phase of student activity. Thirteen students join together to form one unit to represent the students, who, thus in a sense, set up and enforce the rules. While the Council remains rigid in its enforcement of the codes, which are such an important part of school life, it also remains flexible enough to deal with all aspects which it encounters. In its effort to create better surroundings and a better school, the Council has been confronted with controversial issues throughout the year. The student, or even the council member himself may, during the year, ask himself the purpose of the Council. The opinions will be variable, but one will always remain constant. Without the Council, the voice of the student would be mute.

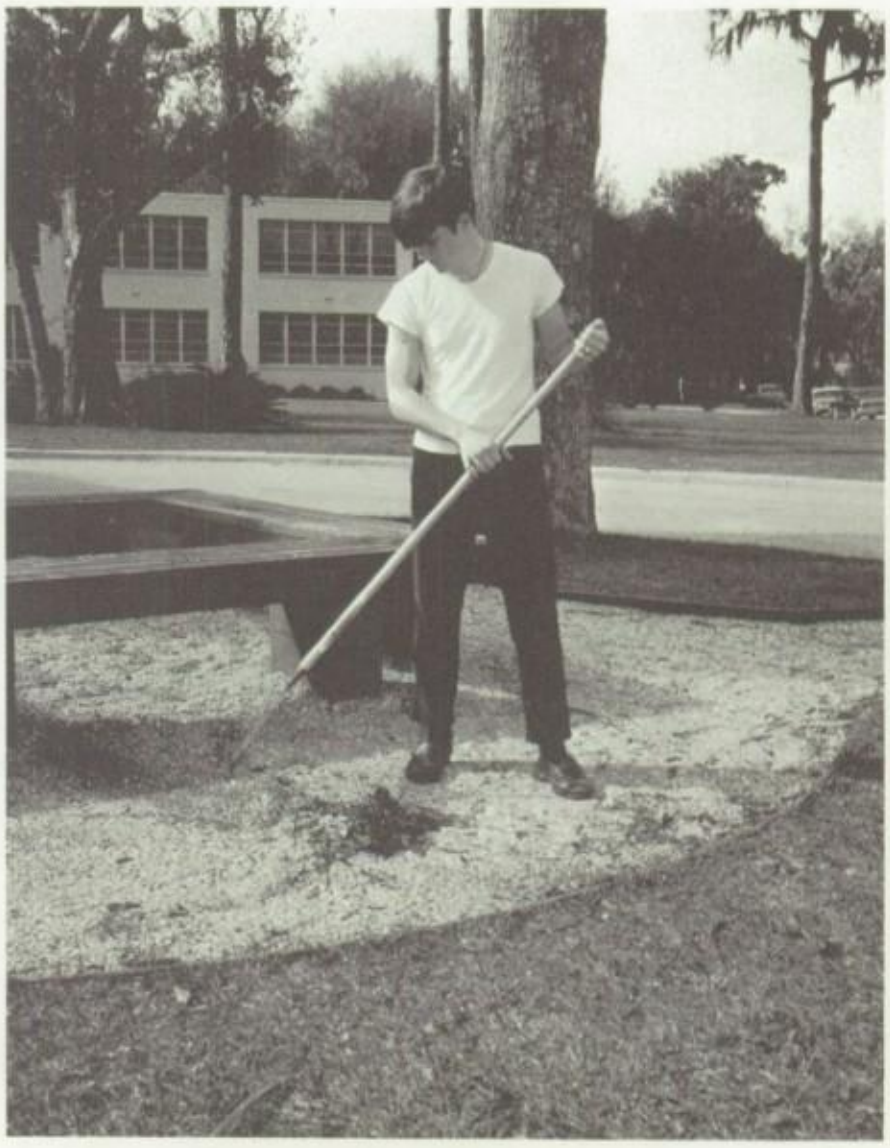
The Proctor System

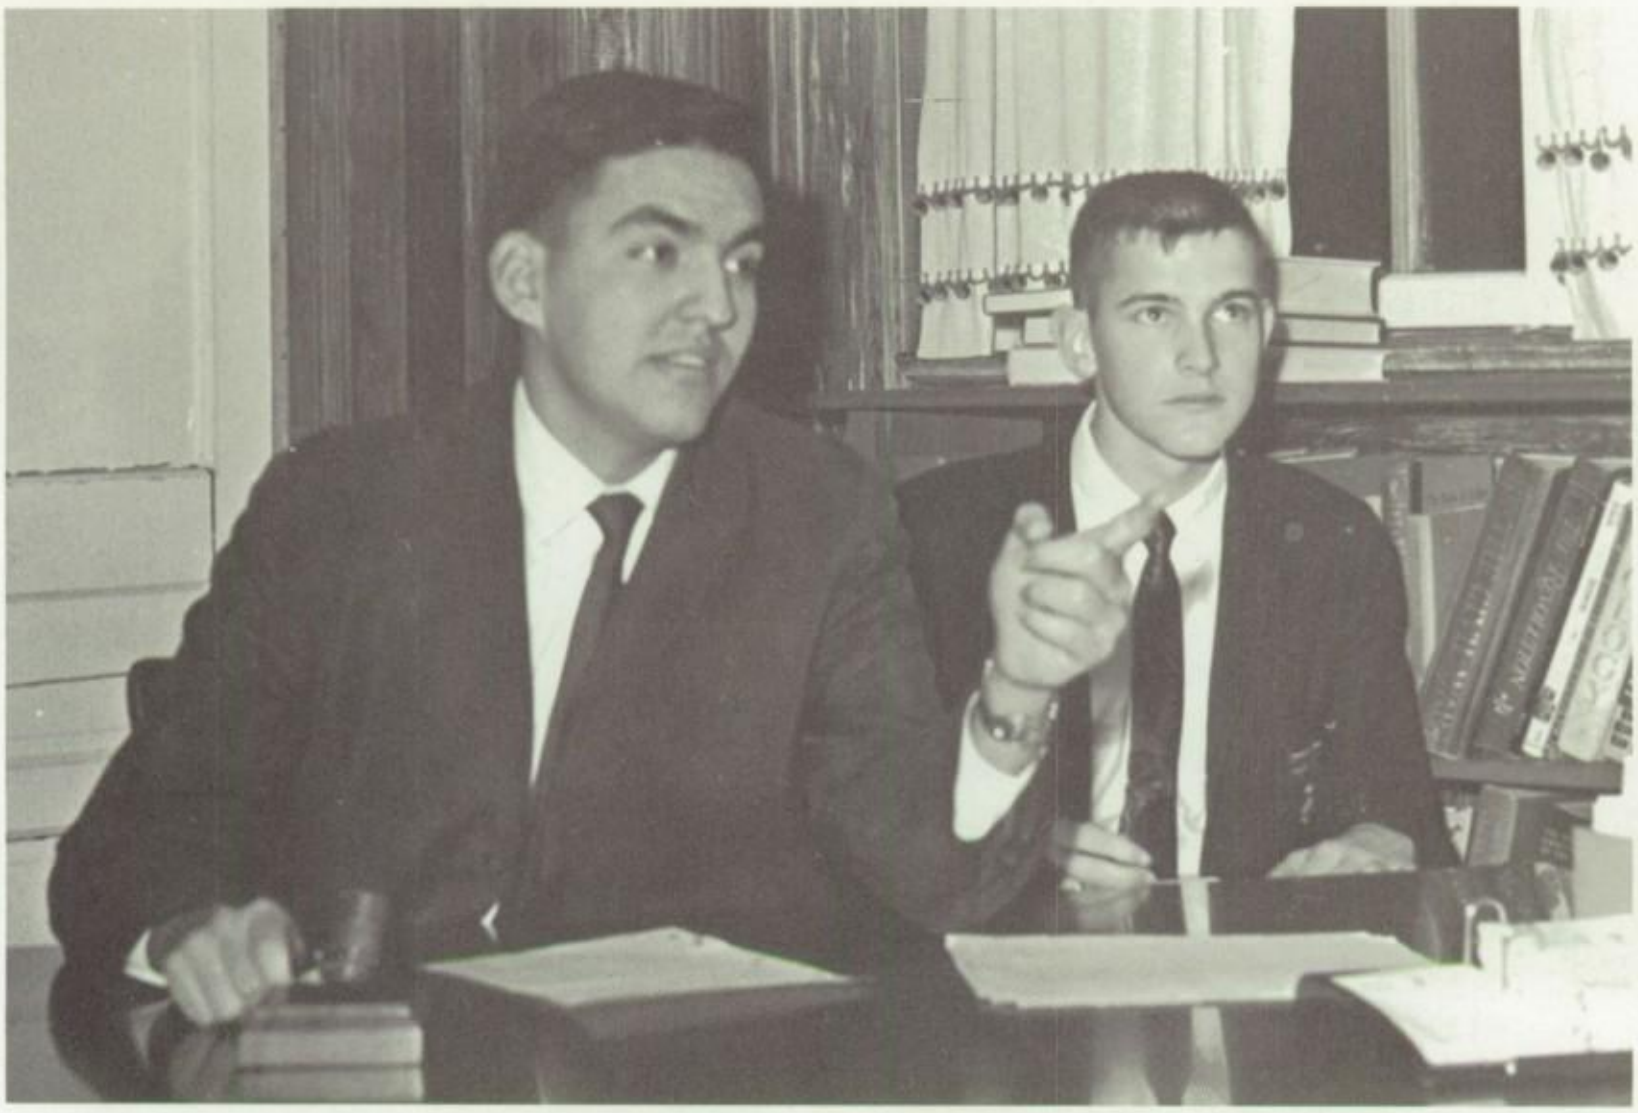
The Proctor program is an integral part of the Bolles' system. In the mystical depths of the Student Council's activities, the Proctor is selected. He is assigned a position and the responsibility to uphold the accepted code of conduct as laid down by the Administration and Student Council. Here we show a Proctor in action. Finding a violator, the Proctor issues a summons. The defendant then must appear in Court. If found guilty, the Court assigns the appropriate penalty. The Proctor is a useful and personal example of Bolles' democracy in action.



Judges Triviz, Greene, and Compton

The Court

The Student Court system at Bolles provides an excellent form of discipline in that students themselves operate it. By operating the Court in this manner, no student can complain about his prescribed punishments. The judges are carefully selected on the basis of their academic performances and the respect in which they are held by their classmates. The Court system has been most effective and reflects great credit on the school.



Judge Triviz. Clerk Glendinning

Day Boy Judge Compton. Clerk Anderson

Day Boy Proctors

The duties of Day Boy Proctors are nebulous and under constant revision. They have included such details as campus pick-up supervision, canteen duty, and bus monitoring. In spite of problems involved in the supervision of dayboys, the 1965-66 Day Boy Proctors acquitted themselves well.

The Alumni Bugle is a quarterly newspaper produced by the Journalism class at Bolles, to keep Alumni up to date with the happenings at Bolles.

Turris

The 1966 Turris has come a long way since its beginning last Fall. The staff has tried to return the TURRIS to a more personal and friendly publication. One in which both Seniors and underclassmen can look remembering the people and events which made this session and class whatever it is. To add variety we often juggled both staff and editors or had them juggled for us. We the Advisor, editors, and staff tried to make this not our yearbook, but the property of the entire school, as its publication would never have been possible without the total cooperation of both students and faculty. We sincerely hope that you take as much pleasure in reading this yearbook as we have had in producing it for you.

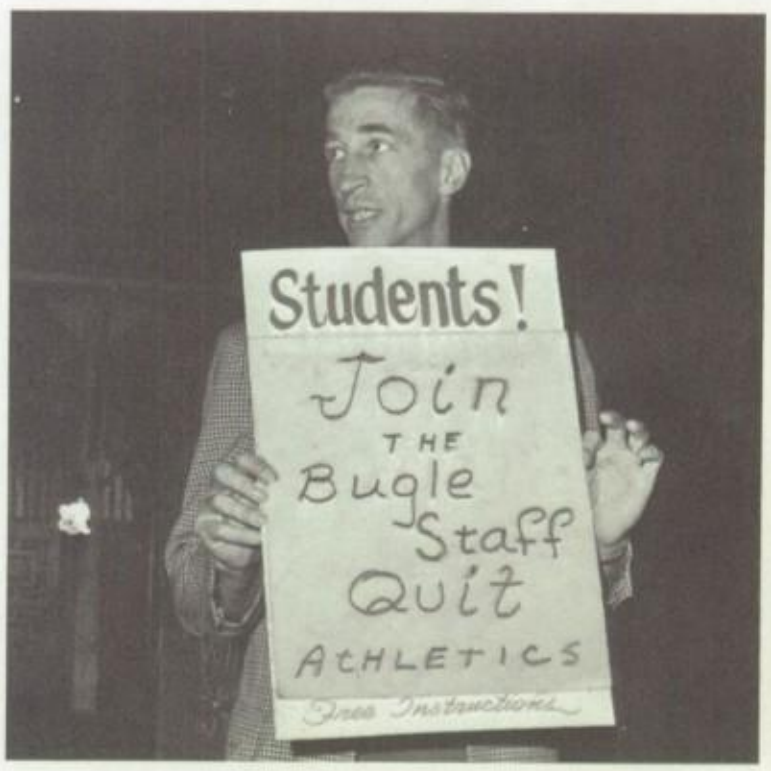
The Bugle

The Athletic Chess Club, better known as the Bugle Staff, carried on a dynamic campaign for intellectual freedom in the Bolles School. Though this year sometimes called reactionary, the editors maintain that "When done in opposition to the ATHLETIC GESTAPO, extremism is no vice." Under the "able" editorship of Phil Sherrod, the Bugle comes out with many controversial articles.

Though sometimes biased and questionable, this year's Bugle has been at best pointed and at worst amusing.



Drama Club

After last year's unparalleled success, the 1965-66 Drama Club had its work cut out for it. Even its most ardent supporters doubted if the 1966 Drama Club's performances could surpass those of previous plays.

But under the superb direction of Mr. Robert Hubbard, this year's Bolles Drama Club reached new heights of excellence. Its fall productions, "Bound East For Cardiff" and "If Men Played Cards As Women Do", were very successful, but were only a prelude to "Billy Budd", the spring production (which packed the house night after night).

One must wonder if the future Drama Clubs will ever surpass the work of the 1966 Club.

The Opus Club

The Bolles version of the answer to Stan Musial's campaign against alcoholic beverages is the Opus Club. Doing nothing in particular, as well as nothing in general, the club is noted for its unanimous approval of the Surgeon General's Report on Smoking. Composed of students renowned for their social and moral perfection, the club can be found en masse in the Smoking Lounge preaching against the evils of "the taste that's right."

The Centurions

The only interest club at Bolles, the Centurions, under the direction of Mr. Robert Hubbard, faculty advisor, and Douglas K. Gifford, president, has an outstanding record of achievement and service to the school. Although associated with the "in crowd," this exclusive club has performed a myriad of services to the average student. The club provides a week of merriment to students when its pledges go through their antics during the club's initiation. In addition to this, the Centurions provide bonfires and pep rallies, pregame activities, a number of dances and other beneficial entertainment, and sponsor an annual charity drive for the needy at Christmas time.

McKniff Hall is where Mr. Ross has worked hard to bring law and order to the Bolles' hosses. The hall often rings with the clamorous crowd which congregates in front of Twig's First Class Delicatessen. Chief Hoss Catledge (Max's finest) has a rather cosmopolitan, if gangling, group of proctors to deal with the Georgians and football players who predominate within the hall's confines. All in all you will have to agree that McKniff Hall is truly the "Home of the Bolles' Hoss".

Adding to poor Duncan's problems is the fact that there is an over abundance of Student Council members and head waiters in his domain to frustrate his discipline campaign. Despite these problems, Duncan and his motley crew of proctors have cleaned up the roughnecks and made Snyder the hall of champions.

Dining Room Proctors

The Dining Room Proctors, headed by Dave Rogers, have had much more of a challenge this year than in the past due to the major conversion from the regular dining room style to the cafeteria system. The proctors met this challenge with a great deal of success, as they adjusted their methods and rules to meet the demands of the new system. They succeeded throughout the year in maintaining order and have been instrumental in making the meals more enjoyable to all.

ATHLETICS

THE BULLDOGS

St. Joseph

The Bolles Bulldogs opened their season by hosting the St. Joseph Flashes at Hodges Field. The Bulldogs hardly needed the home field advantage as they coasted to a 27-7 victory.

Fletcher

The Bulldogs scored early in the game, but that was all, as the tough Fletcher Senators came out on top of a 26-6 victory at the beach.

Orange Park

In a hard fought battle, Bolles came from behind to defeat Orange Park. The Bulldog defense held the Raiders long enough to let the offense lead the team to a 13-7 decision.

Fernandina

Bolles won its third game of the season by upending a previously undefeated Fernandina Beach team. Jed Achenbach's plunge over the goal line proved to be the difference in the 7-0 victory.

Baldwin

Baldwin's twenty-one game winning streak was ignored by the Bulldogs as they trounced the Indians before a Dads' Day crowd. Compton and Achenbach teamed up with Buckner and Heard to lead the 34-13 rout.

New Smyrna

On a "dragged" field, Coach Bass's Bulldogs had to fight hard for a 13-12 victory over the New Smyrna Barracudas on the latter's home "diamond."

St. Augustine

St. Augustine proved to be the heartbreaker team of the season when they scored two touchdowns within the last minute to pull a 21-14 upset over the Bulldogs.

Green Cove

Wayne Compton's two touchdowns led the Dogs to a decisive 19-0 win over the Blue Devils of Green Cove. The tough defense held the Devils to a minus one yard rushing in the last three periods.

Bishop Kenny

Fired-up Bishop Kenny traveled to Hodges Field and closed the door on the hosts after the half to win 26-14.

Macclenny

In the season's finale, a fired up team from Maclenny dealt Bolles its fourth loss 27-7 on Hodges Field.

FOOTBALL

This year the Bolles' Bulldogs began a new season with several changes from the previous one. In addition to many new players, Bolles acquired several new assistant coaches. Back again for his second season was Head Coach Max Bass. His new assistant coaches are Bob Funari, Larry Majors, and Don Wiginton.

The Bulldogs began practicing for their tough season during the late summer months. They had an excellent pre-season and were in fine shape for their opponents. By the time the first game rolled around the Bulldogs were all keyed up and had plenty of spirit. Their 6-4 season was climaxed by an invitation to the Citrus Bowl in Inverness, Florida, where the Bulldogs met the Hernando High Leopards. This hard fought game resulted in a tie.

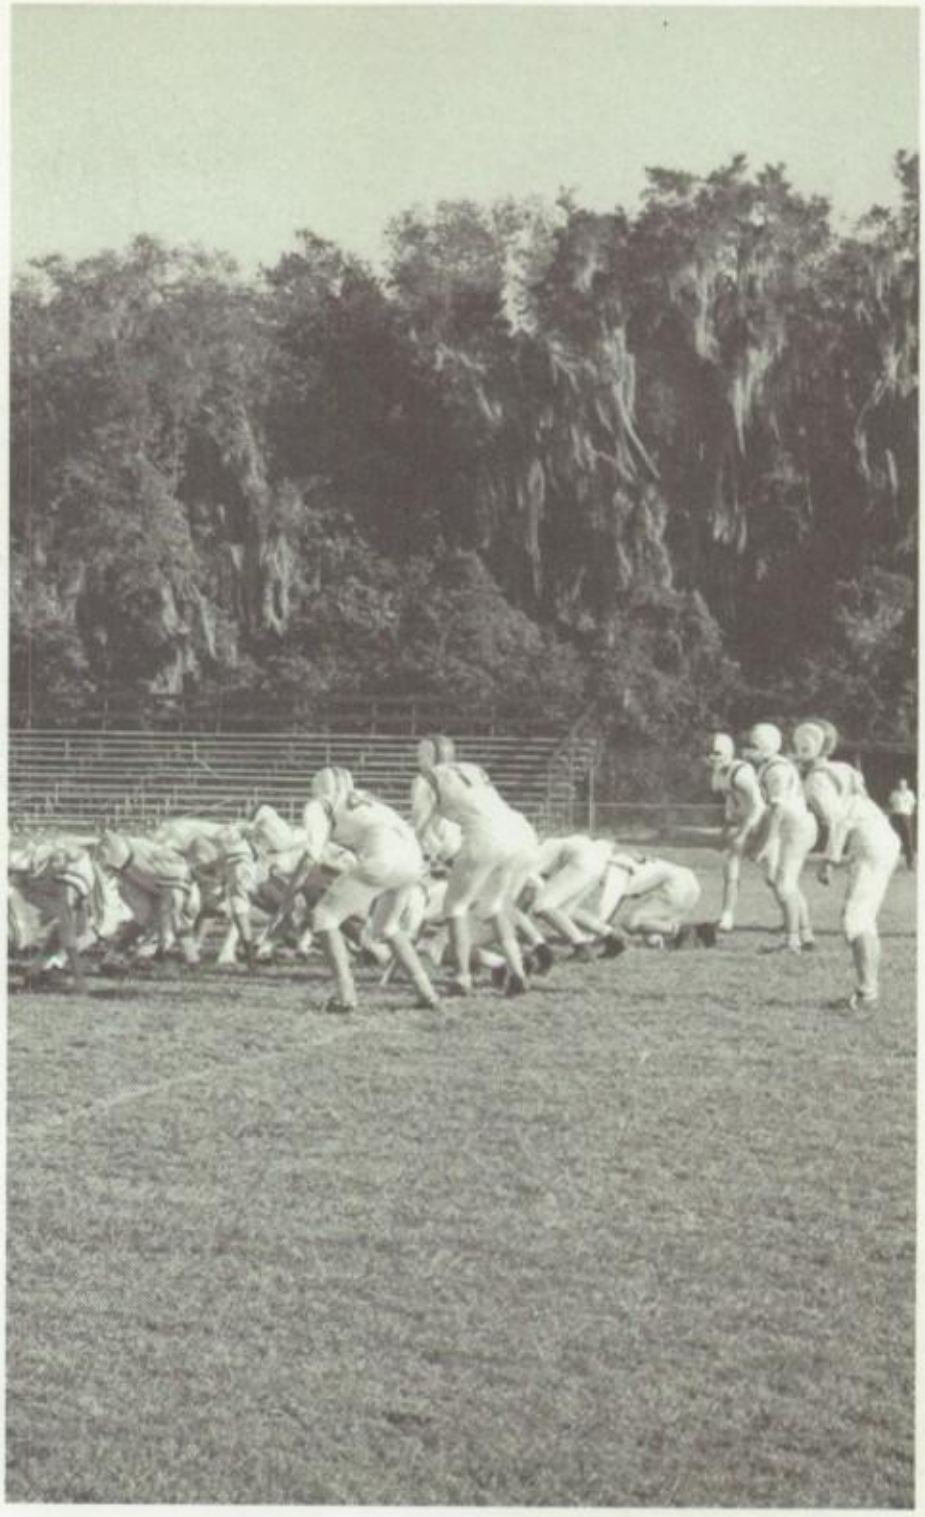
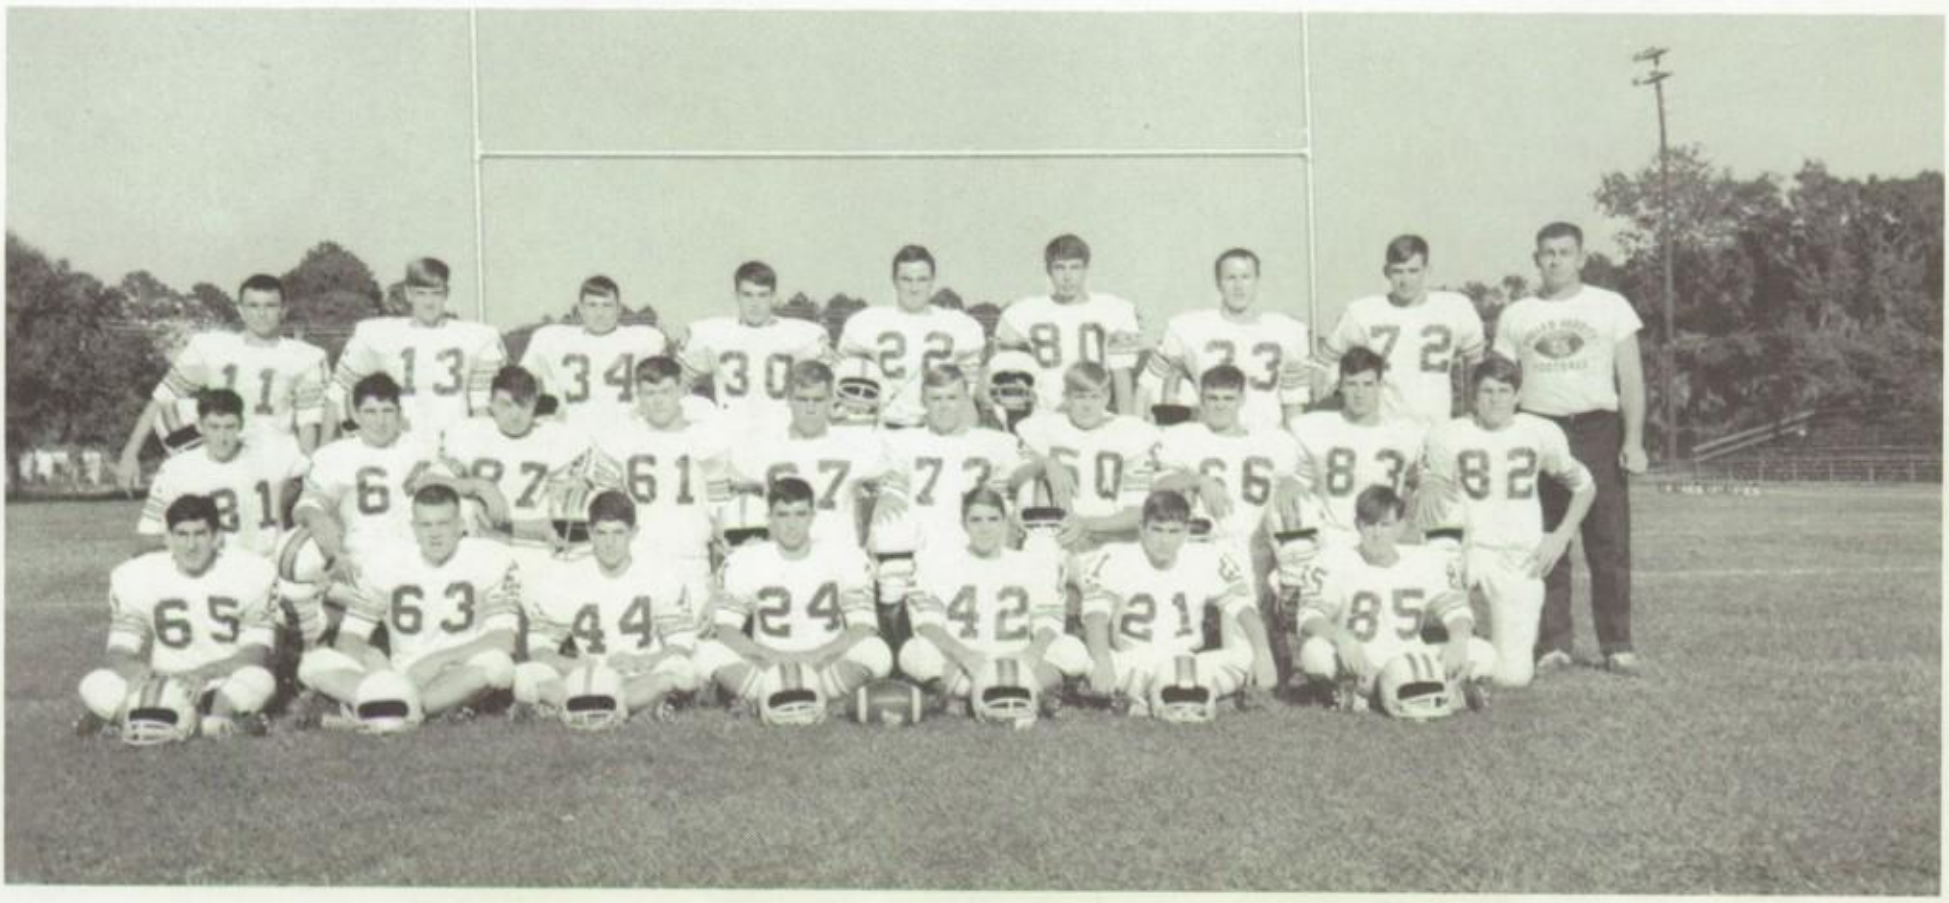
The 1965-66 J.V. football, under the direction of Coach Ed Transcygier and Don Wiginton ended its season with a 3-3 record. Defeating Terry Parker, Green Cove Springs, and Baldwin, the team fought hard but could not overcome Bishop Kenny, St. Augustine, and Wolfson.





Track

The 1966 Bolles Track team under the leadership of Coach Funari and Coach Majors ended a successful season at the group meet. With a few returning lettermen, the squad started from scratch, and gained needed experience for future years. Outstanding members of the track squad were Chris Stubbs, Bill Thompson, Shep Colledge, and Marvin Harper.

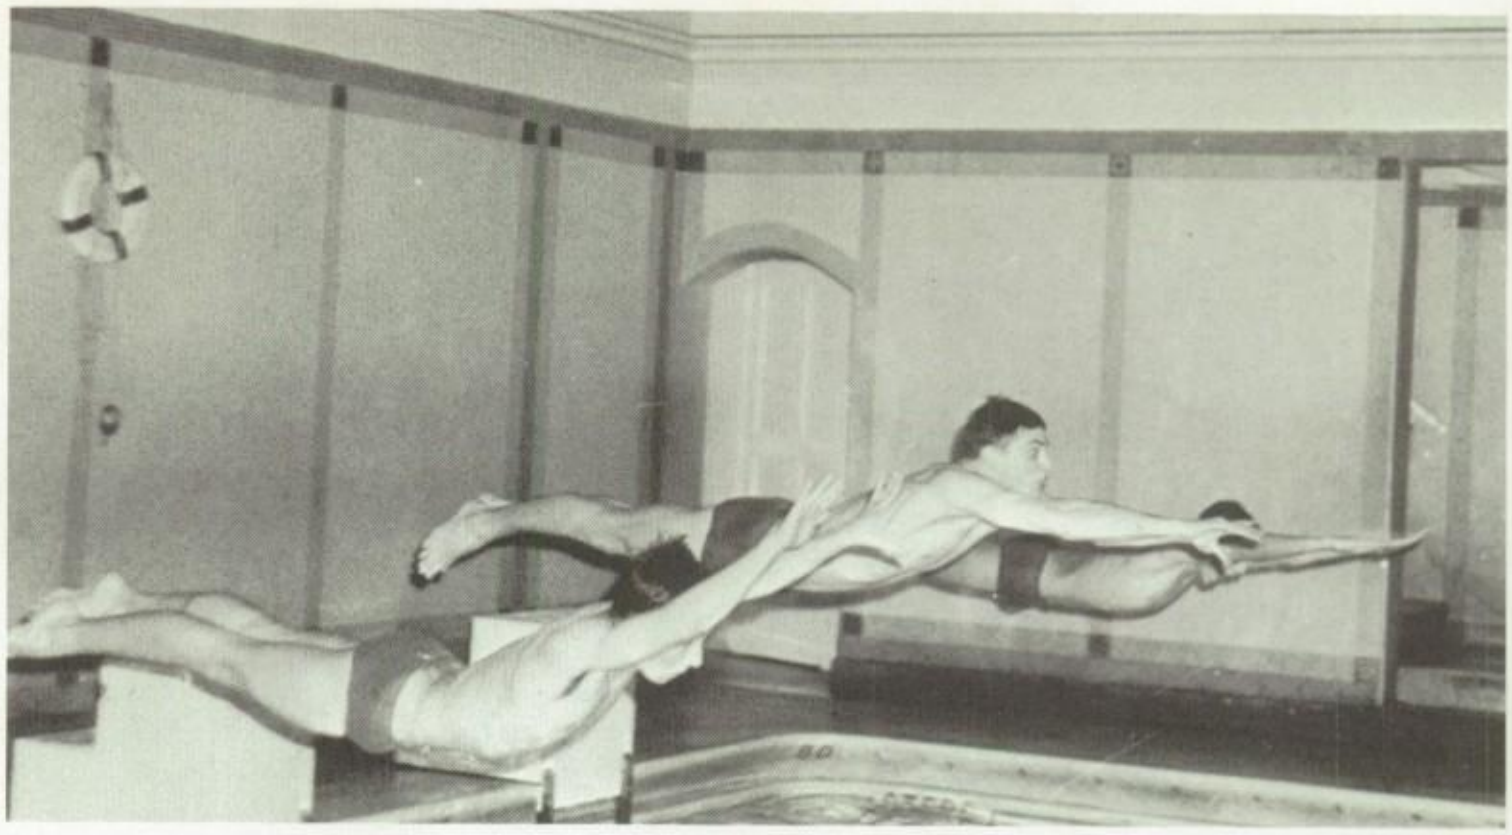
Swimming



Lack of depth was the major handicap facing Coach Garces' swimmers, but they were able to overcome the deficit to swim their way to another successful season. It is very likely that the team will be able to improve upon their third and sixth place finishes in the city and state meets last year. The team was able to best all but one local opponent this season, and thanks to the crafty coaching of Capt. Garces and to the determination of the small squad, the team surprised many opponents and spectators throughout the season.

Tennis

This year's tennis team planned from the beginning to equal its immediate predecessor. Due to the return of lettermen Bill Gatlin, Tom Hauser, Mike Spoor, Don Sharpe, and John Fisher, the team had a head start on much of its competition. An added boost was newcomer Scott Bristol.

Coach Gib Warren entered the team in matches throughout the state and they represented Bolles with talent and good sportsmanship.

Basketball

The Bolles' Basketball Team began the year with several new players on the starting five. These new members are Jim Petrea, a new boy; Chris Hornbuckle, who played J.V. last year, and Alan Rockafellow. The remaining two starters are Dave Fraley and Art Broder.

Although this year's schedule consisted of more competitive schools, Bolles made up for this disadvantage through height and accuracy.

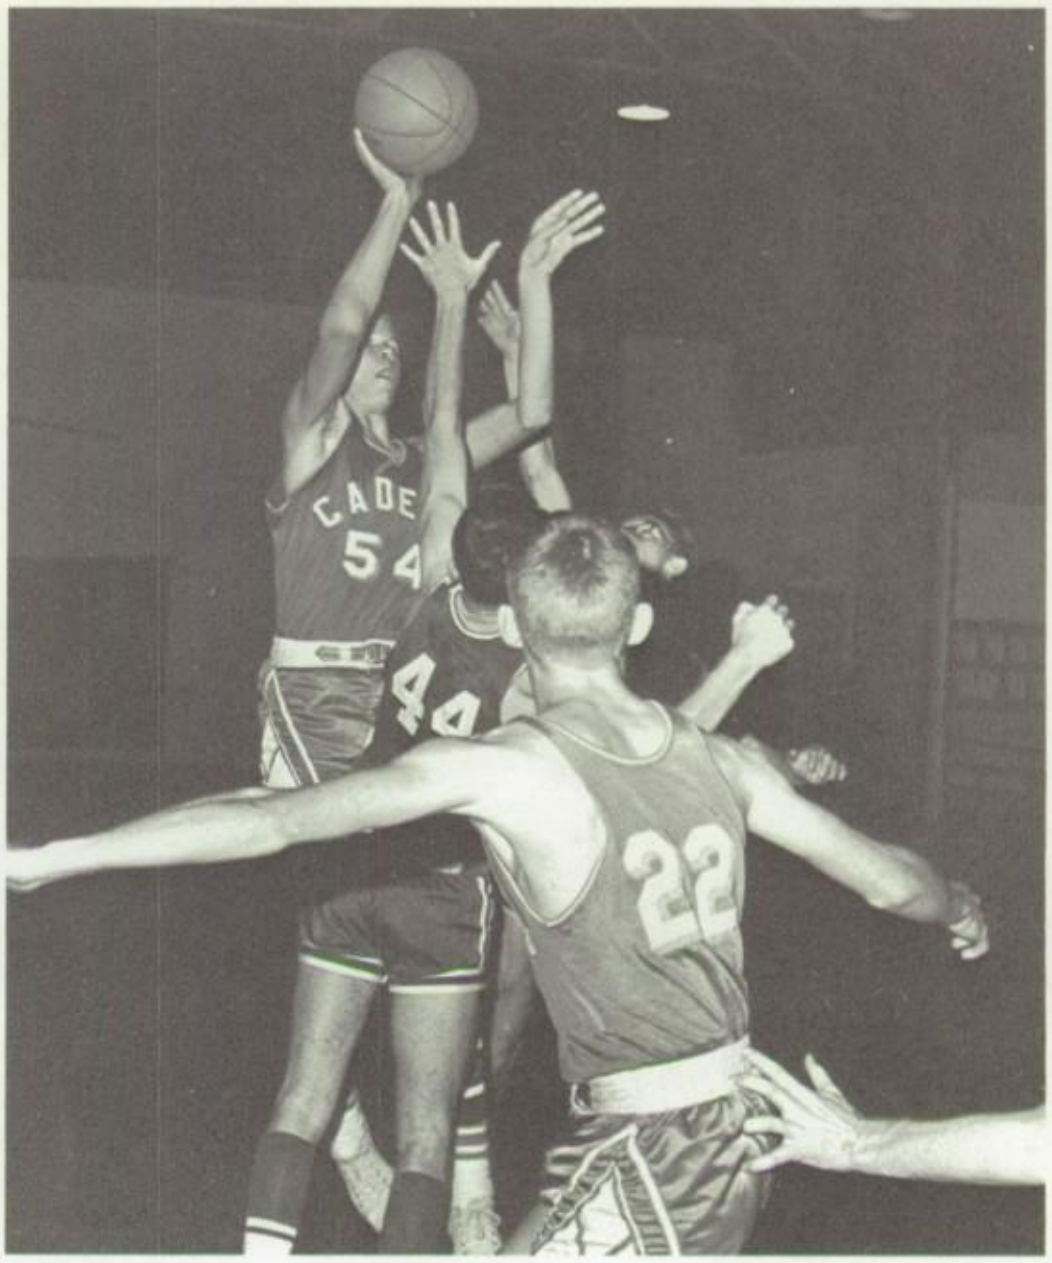
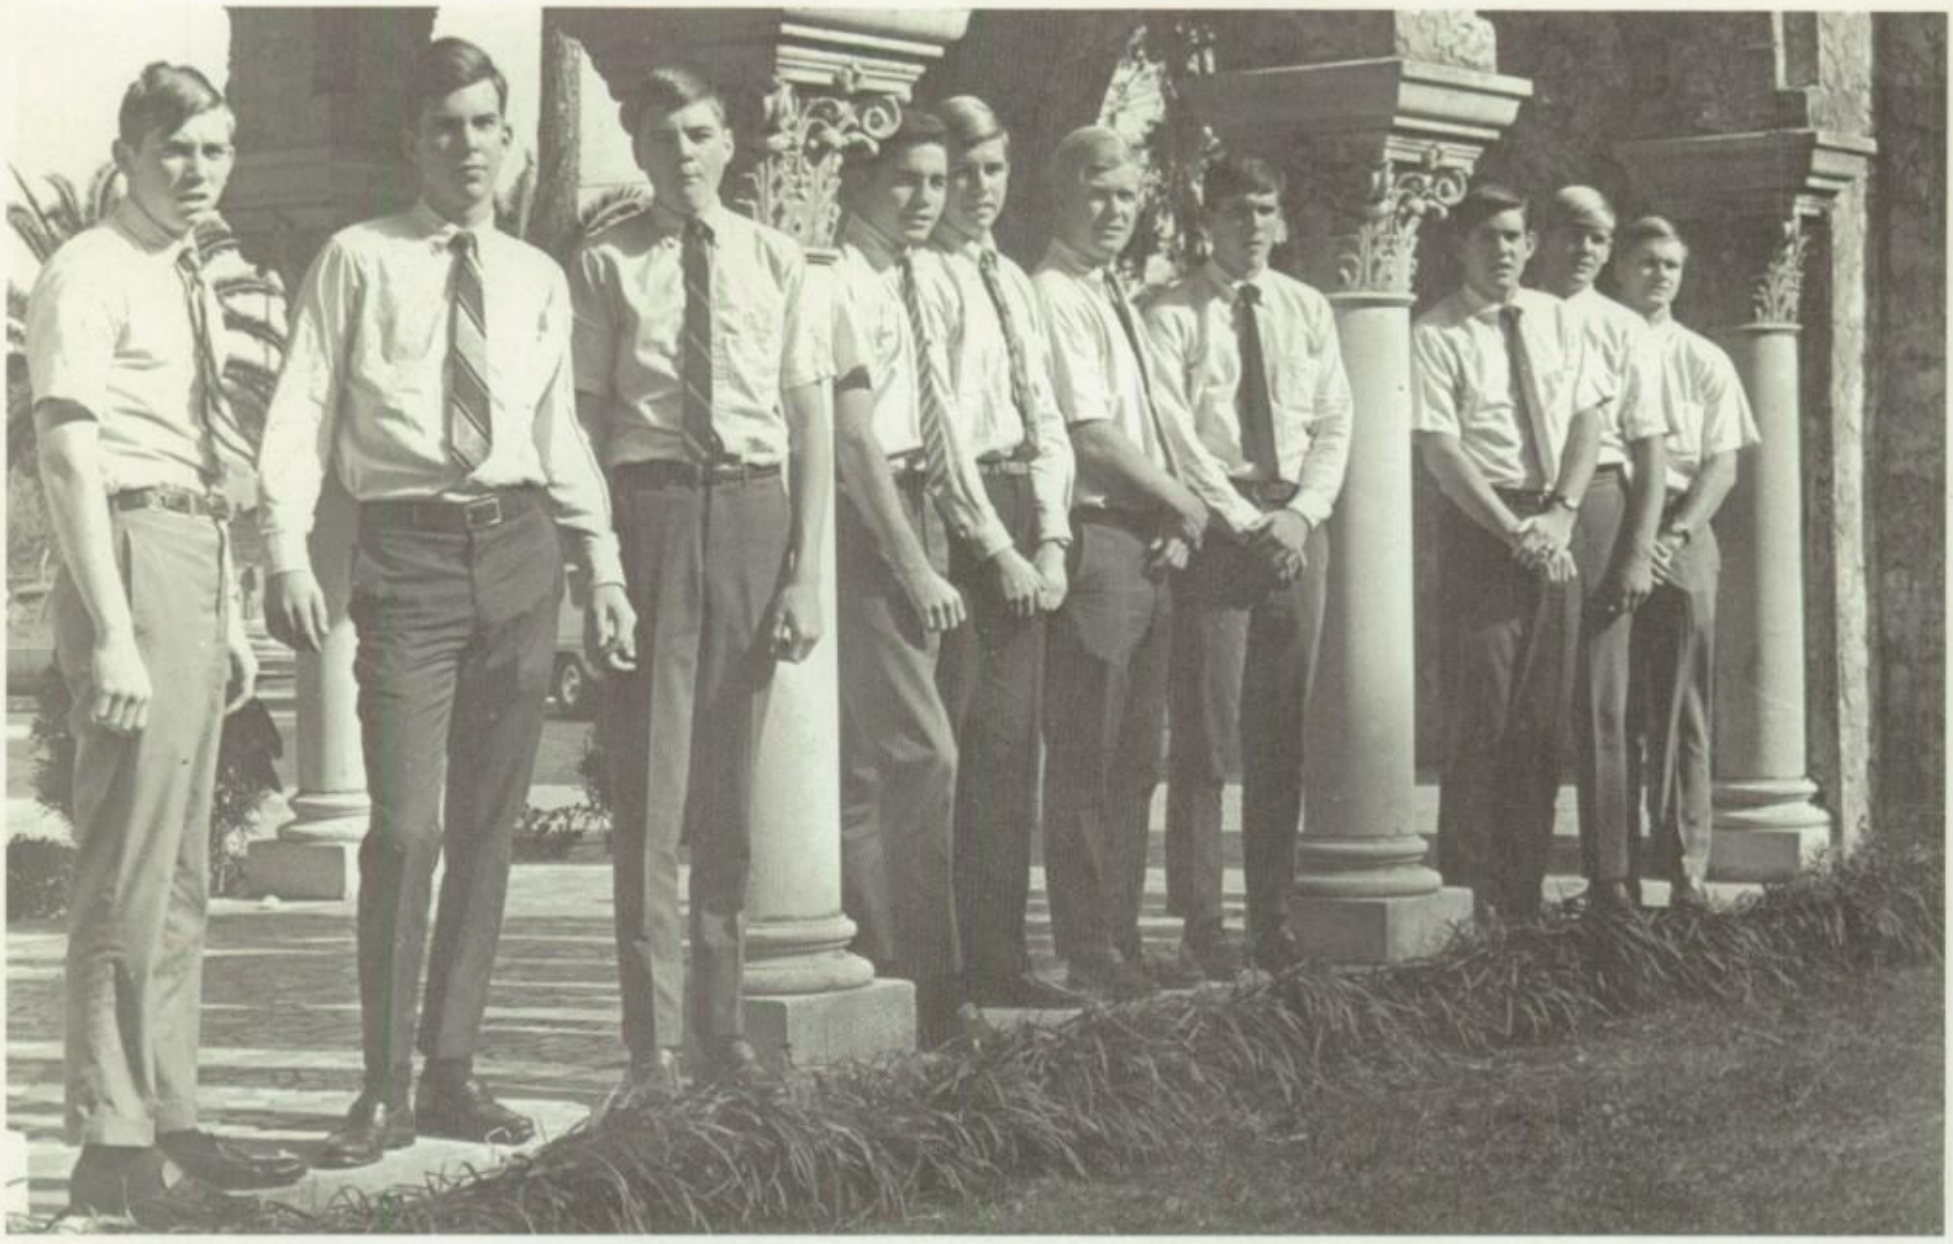
Junior Varsity Basketball

Coach Transcygier

Coach Ed Transcygier



The 1966 Junior Varsity Basketball team upheld the tradition of Bolles' competitive spirit. They earned a 12-7 season. The talent found by Coach Transcygier for this season indicates that the Bulldogs will have fine basketball teams in the future.

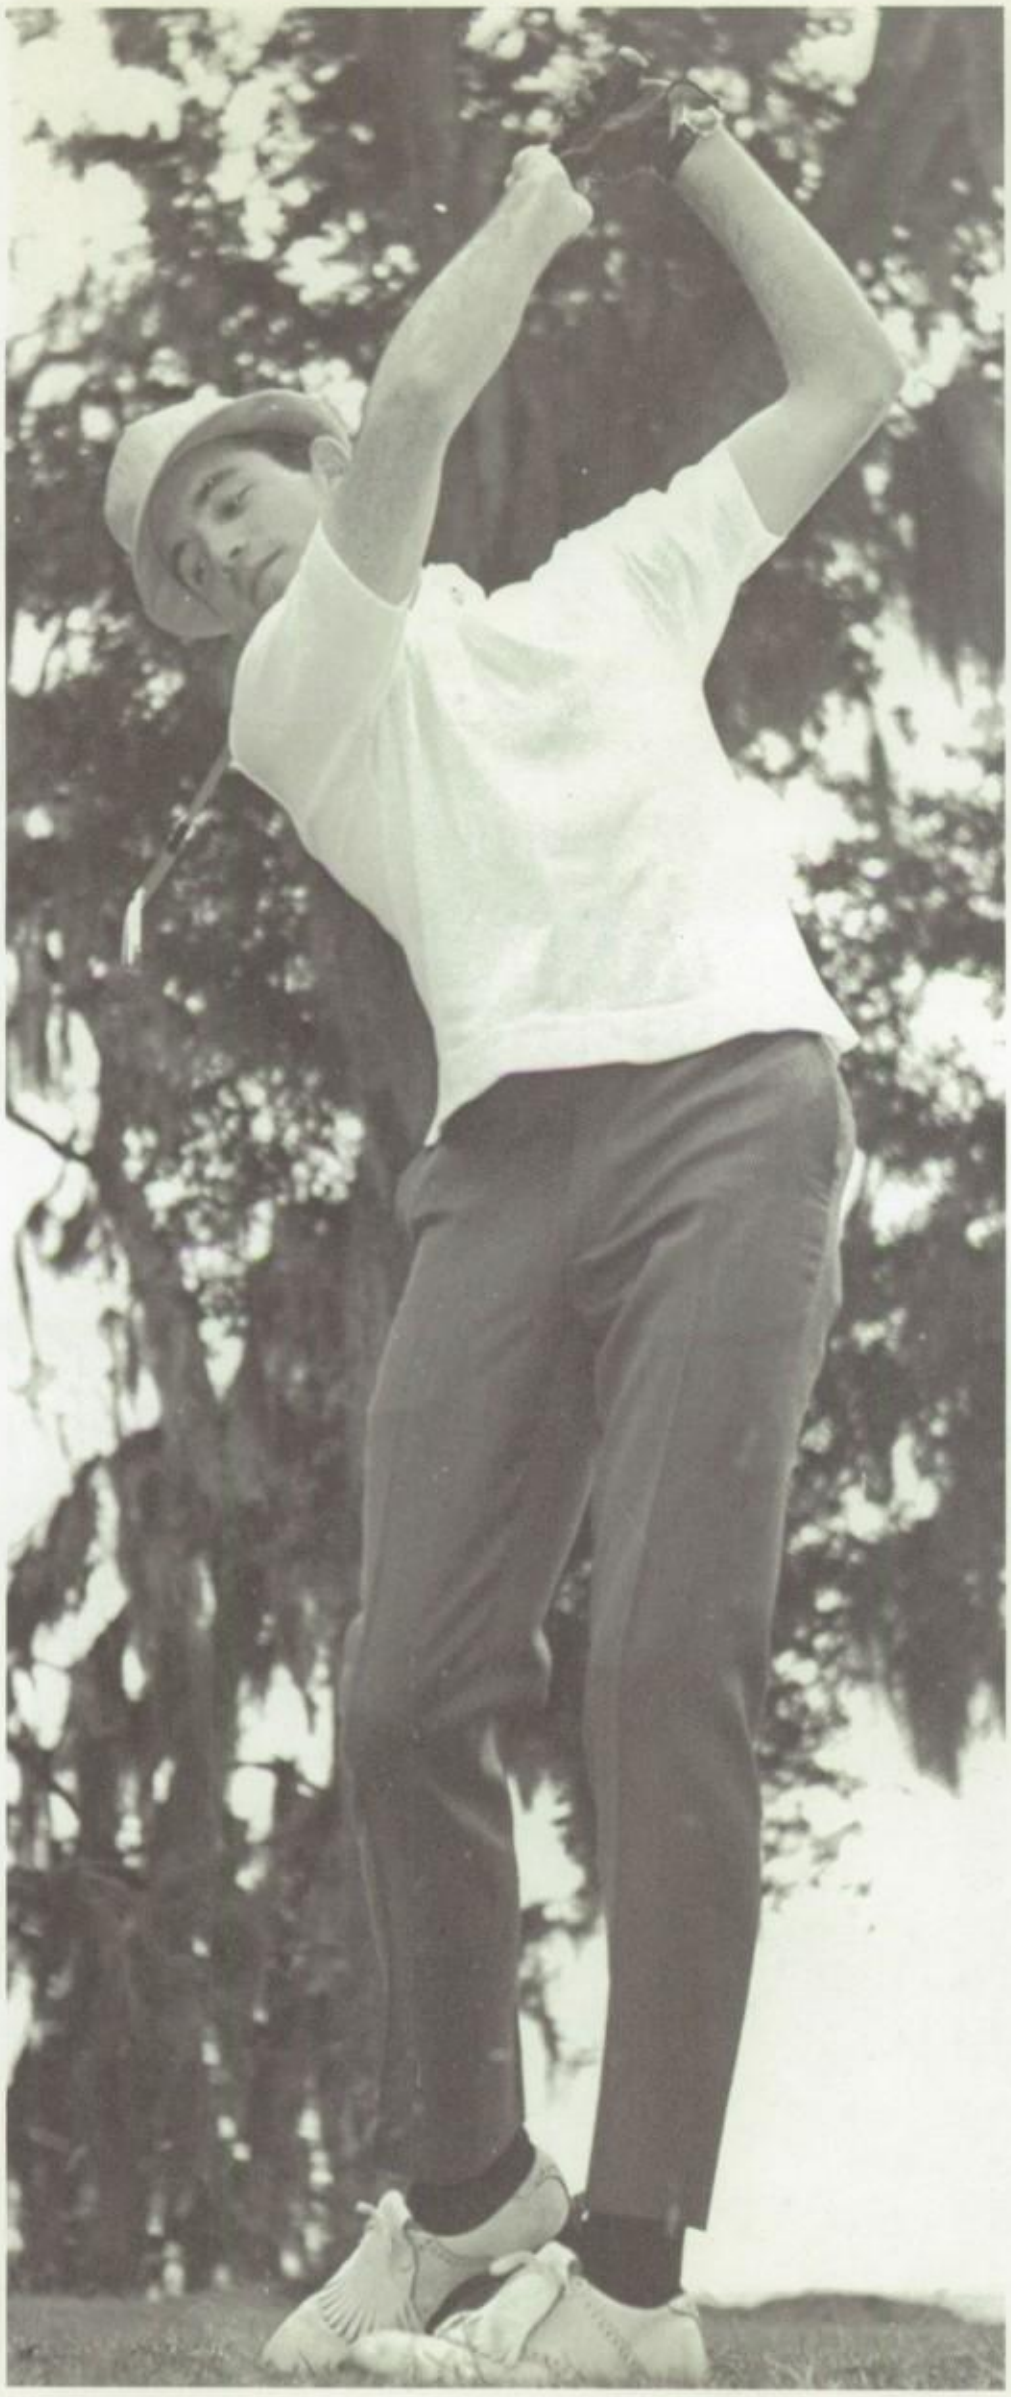


Golf

This year's Golf Team was led by only two returning lettermen, Sam Scribner and Robert Nathan. Other members are Pete Dehlinger, Gary Koffman, Rick Agel, Wallace Glover, Fritz Merkle, Gus Kroner, Bryant Skinner, and manager, Danny Rose. The team practiced daily at Deerwood Country Club for two months prior to the regular season.

Coaches Talantis, McMillan and Garrison supervised the team during basketball season, as golf coach Bart Bartholomew also coached the varsity basketball team.

First preseason match was with Palatka on February 18. Other preseason matches were with Daytona and Starke, and the regular season opened in March.



Soccer

The 1966 Soccer Team, under the supervision of Don Wiginton and Coach Weinerick, enjoyed a considerable amount of success. Coach Weinerick, an all-state fullback for Jacksonville University, was a great asset to the team.

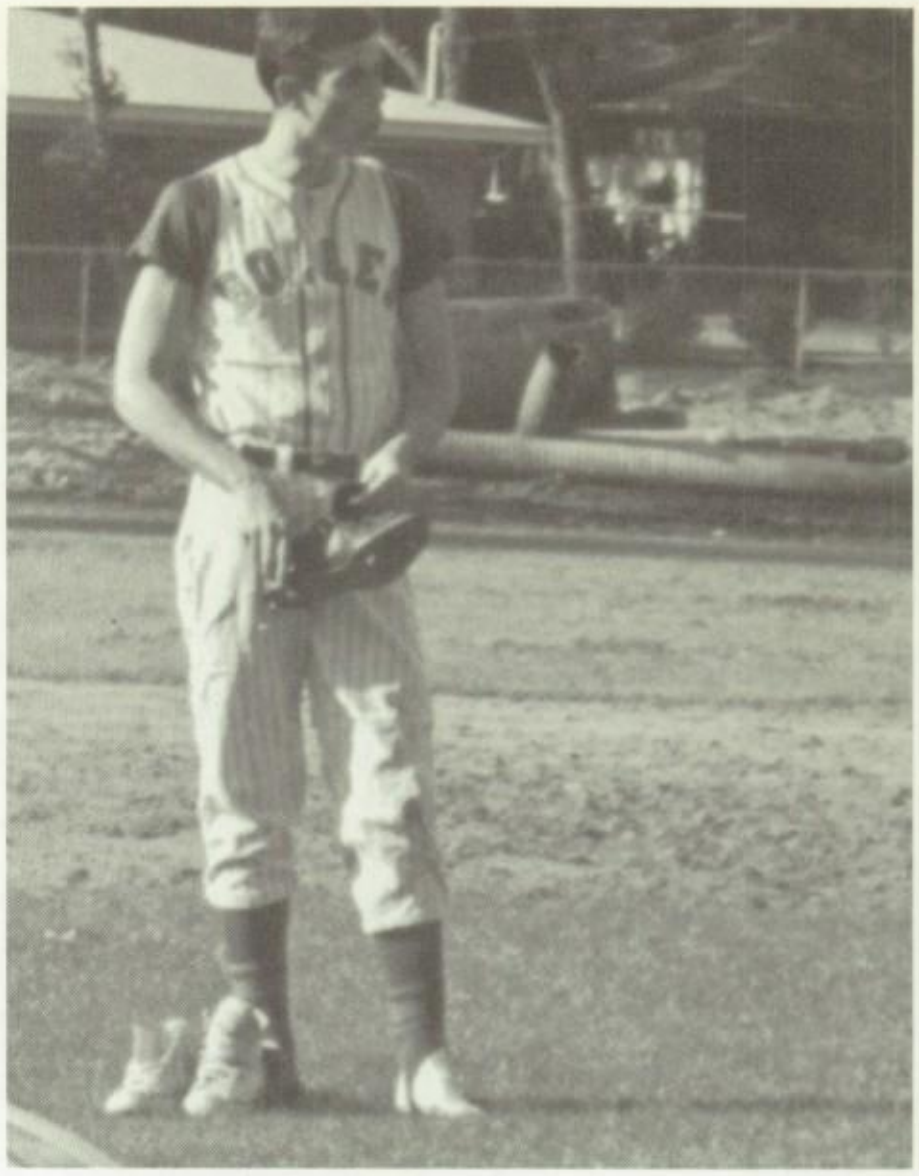
In recent years, soccer has been and is still becoming more, popular. In the past it has not been recognized as a varsity sport, but due to the firm initiative of Coach Wiginton and the players themselves, soccer has finally achieved this recognition.

The 1966 Bolles Bulldog Soccer Team

Baseball

This year's baseball team experienced many new and different changes. Under the direction of a new coach, Max Bass, spring practice began in mid-February. This year's schedule differed slightly from last year's in that we played several more local teams than last year.

A large number of the team consisted of either football players or new members. With very few lettermen returning this year, Coach Bass introduced the team to many newer and better methods of the sport.



Intramurals

Intramural activities, after a shaky start, were replaced with morning P.E. classes. Such sports as volleyball, softball, touch football, and gymnastics gave way to sessions designed to promote physical fitness in a planned program. Dock was the only activity to survive the change.

BOLLES

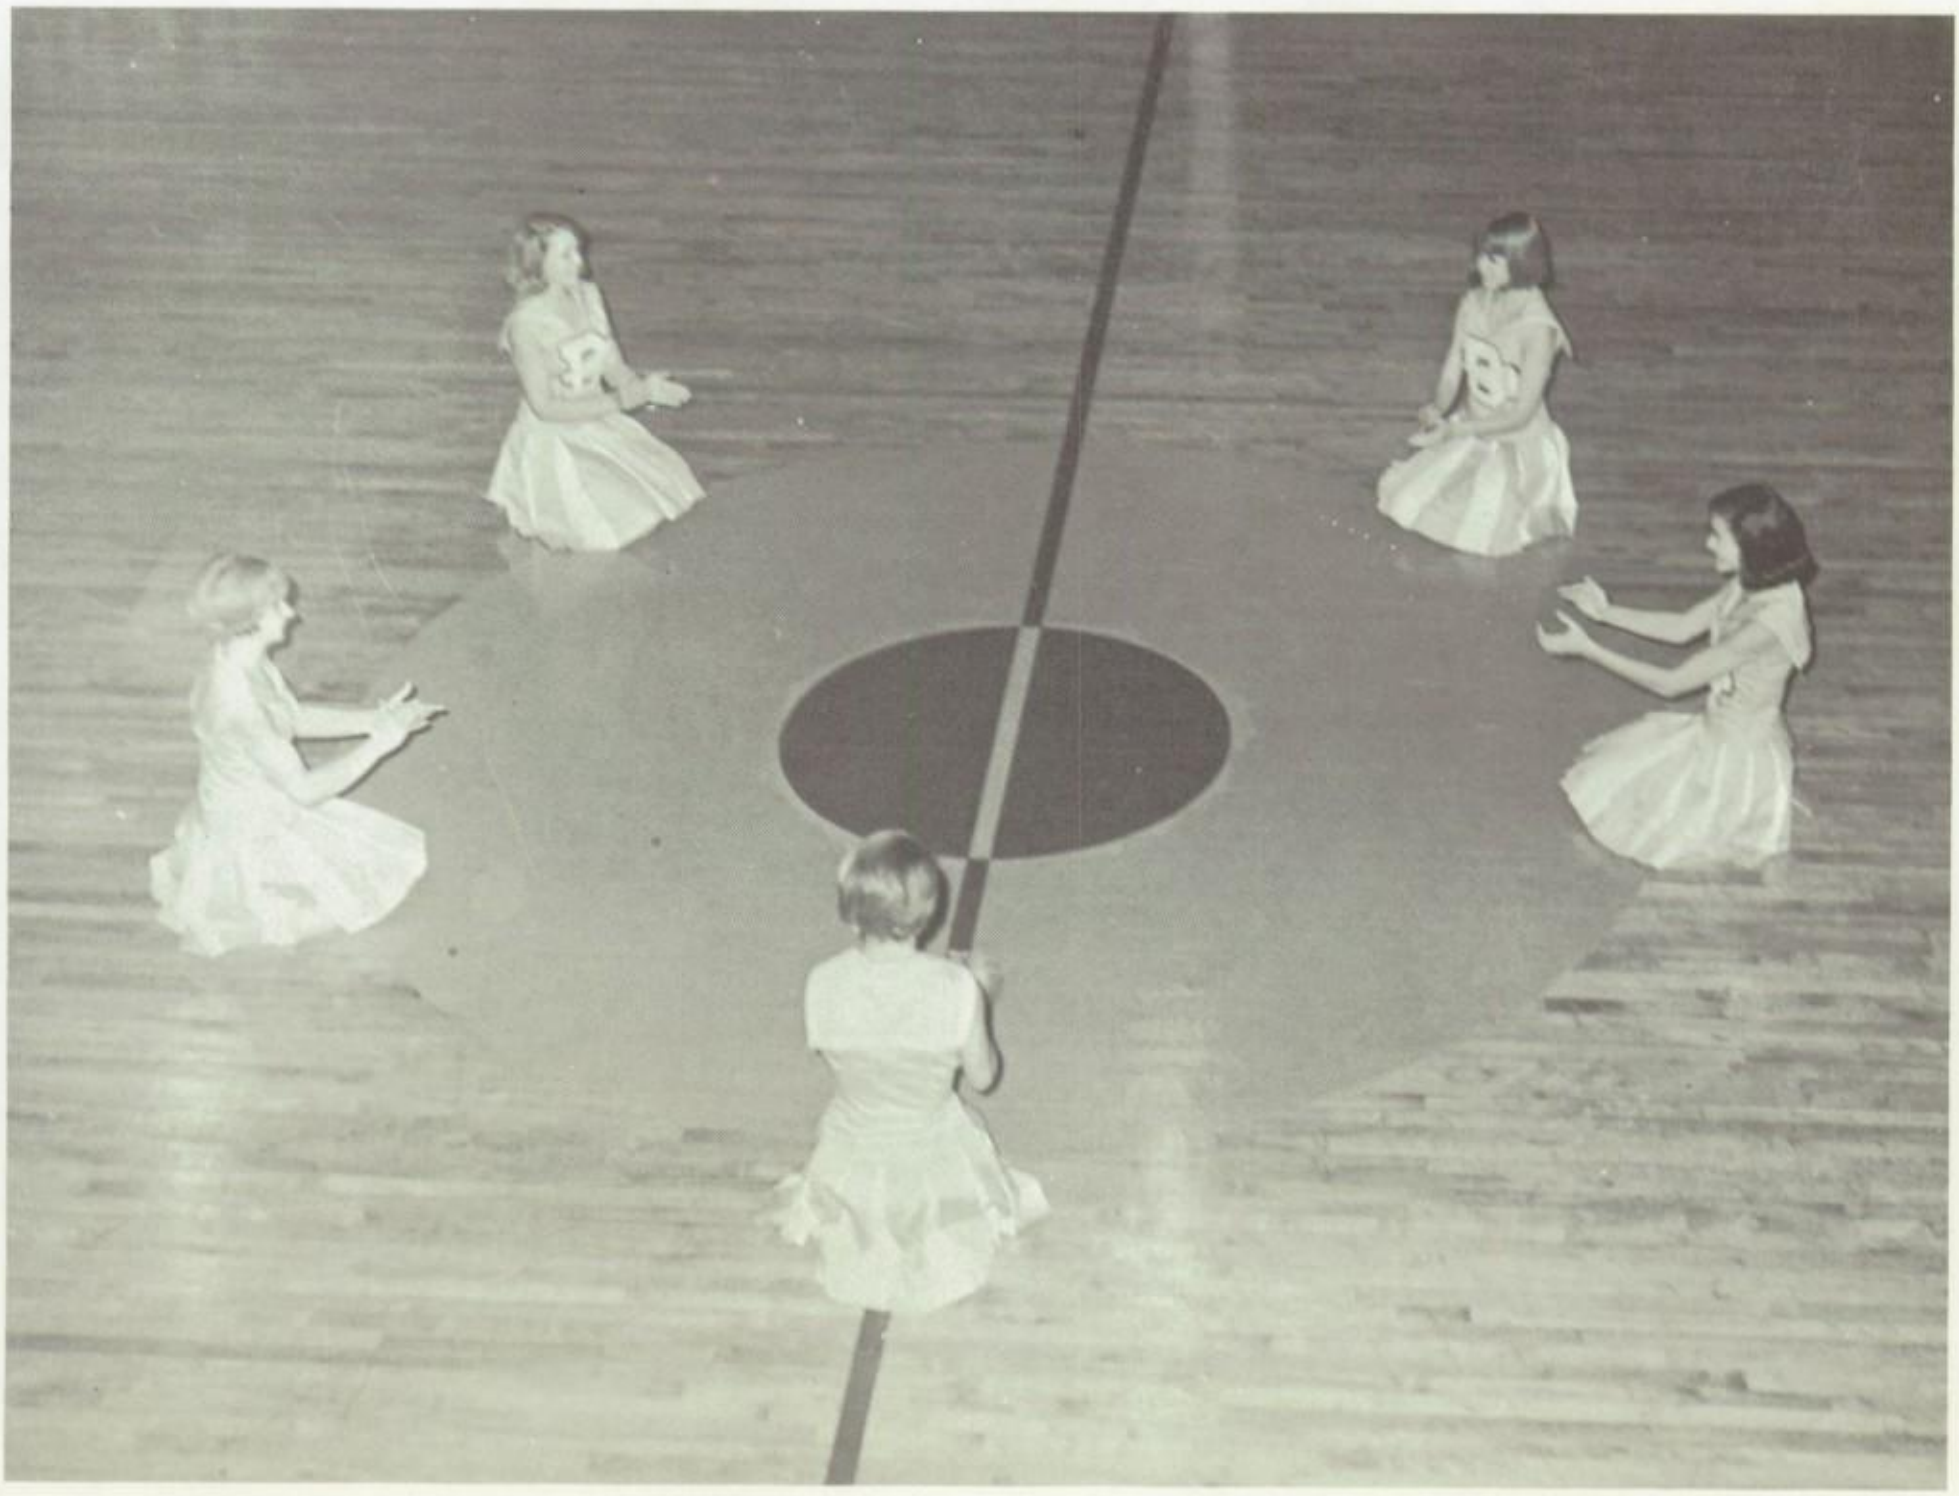
Spirit at Bolles over the past few years has been improving steadily. The year 1965-66 was no different, thanks to many spirit-minded students and a very capable group of cheerleaders. The turnout at all athletic events has been better this year. Winning seasons in nearly all sports doubtless aided the increase in school spirit and interest in athletics.

Cheerleaders

The 1965-66 Cheerleading Squad has worked extremely hard to develop the skills necessary for the intricate steps and movements involved in many new cheers. Cheerleaders for Bolles are elected by the Student Council. The squad was composed of Captain Minnie Riggle, Martha Goldstein, Kay Sheffield, Mary Beth Urbanus, and Debbie Wilford.



Lower School Athletics

The Athletic Department this year has put some of its best men on the Lower School "Beat." Realizing the need for gradual development in all phases of its organization, todays' Raiders will be tomorrow's hosses. With this in mind the student body and the school is giving even greater support to its Lower School teams.

With the addition of the first Bolles Lower School Invitational Basketball tournament and the addition of a soccer team, the Lower School is building and growing to meet the need of the school's ever widening state and county athletic responsibility.

The Seniors rehearse for a play, one of many projects.

The Senior Class of '66 is not a record breaker by any means, but it has worked hard to carry the load of leadership in school activities.

Its most outstanding asset is the "POSITIVE ATTITUDE"—or the attitude that anything can be successfully accomplished with a little effort and wisdom.

To its credit, or discredit, it has also come to be known as one of the friendliest and most talkative classes on record.

Its officers and advisors, Mr. Hubbard and Mr. deMontmollin, have worked many hours to make this class and its activities memorable.

Freshmen

Fresh from the Junior School, the ninth grade members, or freshmen, as they preferred to be called, are ready to make a start towards the goal they hope to achieve in the span of four years—graduation. They enter a new area of instruction as they emerge into the sphere of knowledge which will inevitably lead them to college. Their goals set before them, all the "new look" in the Upper School has to do is fulfill them.

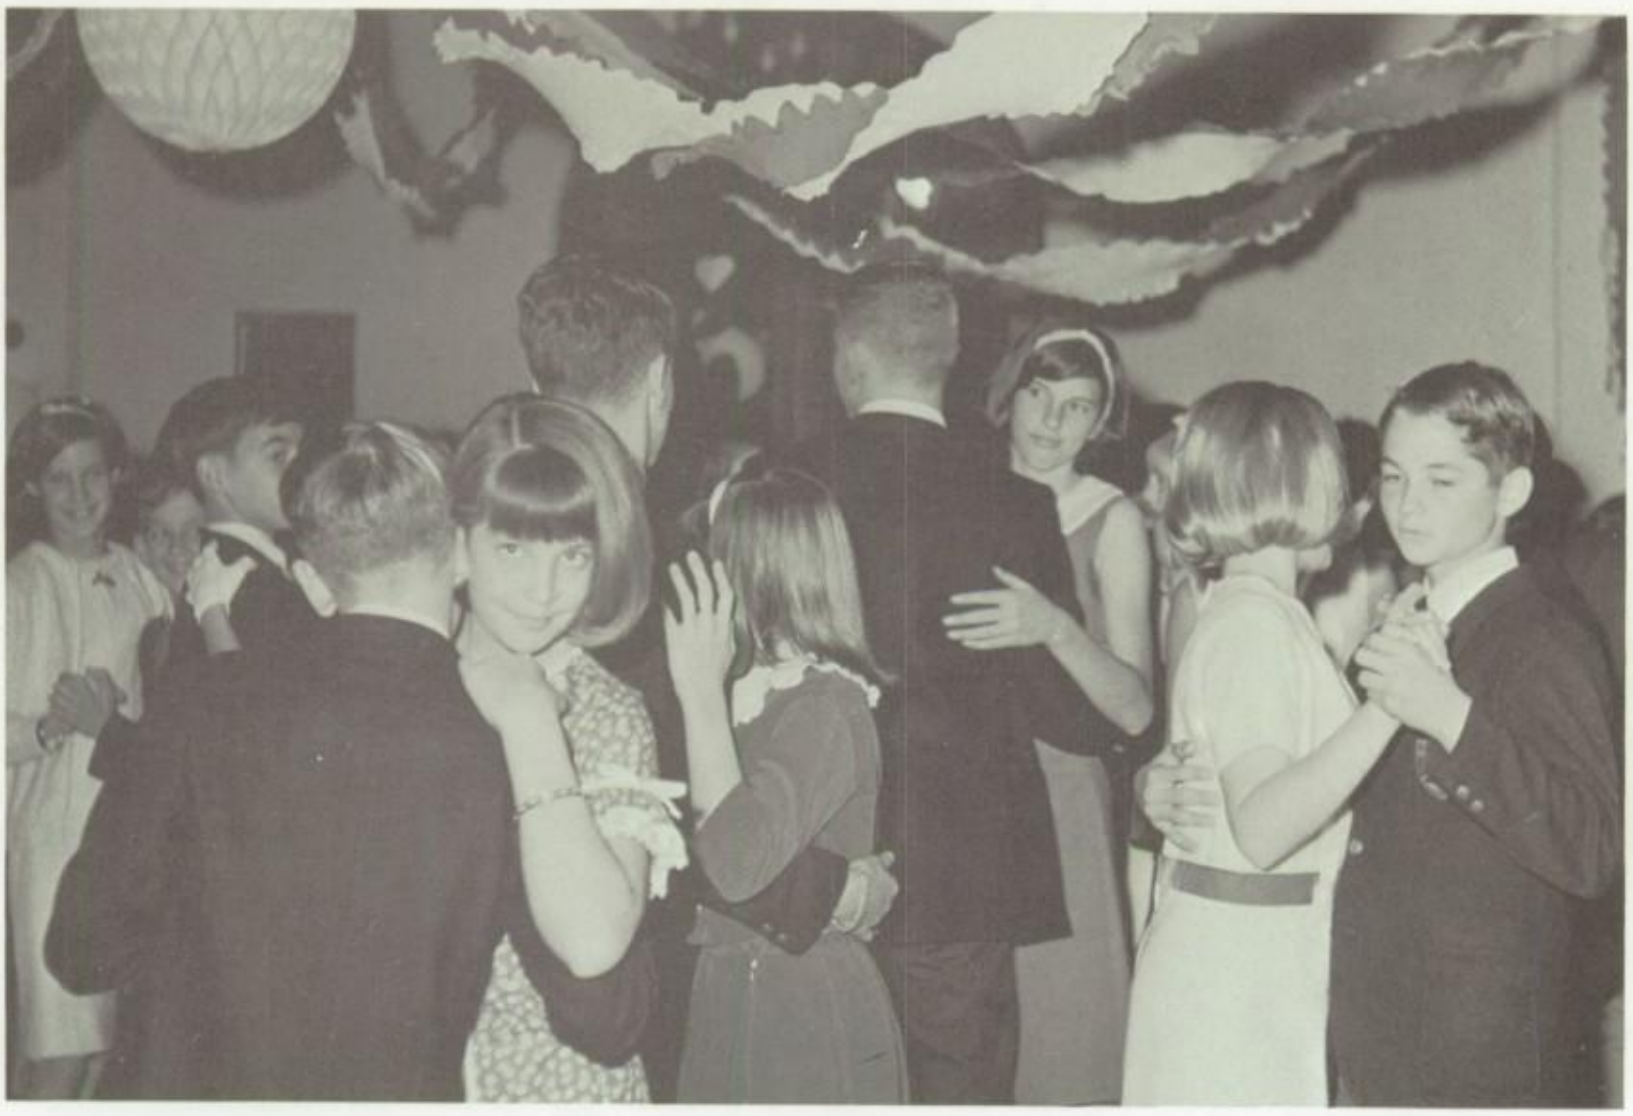
Lower School Life



The Lower School, in many ways a school within a school, expanded its activities in many areas this year. A full-fledged newspaper and a Glee Club headed the list of Lower School activities. In athletics Lower School teams surpassed records in all major sports.

A candid photograph is, by our definition, one taken in jest with a caption added at some later date in jest. It is not our intention to hurt anyone. We hope that our good intentions are reflected in the following pages.

Oldsmobile Division

The 1966 Oldsmobile Toronado, with front-wheel drive, is the most unique automobile in many years. A six-passenger hardtop coupe, it is available in a standard or deluxe model. Driving traction and handling under every conceivable road condition are only two of the outstanding characteristics of this car. In styling, too, the Toronado is distinctive and unique. A specially-modified 425-cubic-inch Toronado V-8 and Turbo Hydra-Matic transmission deliver power to the front wheels. Inside, the Toronado provides full 6-passenger spaciousness and features a flat floor.

Brian,

You and Ricky are some of the best friends a fellow can have; both of you are really great guys. We have to get together during the summer and play some ping-pong and pool. I'll see you at pre-season.
